Seoul Is Said to Allow Companies to Cheat American Army

By JOHN W. FINNEY

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27-Army investigations have concluded that the South Korean Government bas condoned if no controlled a practice of collusive bidding among Korean contractors that is costing United States military units in South Korea about $20 million a year. At least until 1973, according to Army investigative reports, the South Korean Central Intelligence Agency controlled all the bidding by South Korean concerns on goods and services purchased by the United States Army in South Korea.

In response to protests by the United States, the Korean intelligence agency was removed from direct control over the bidding in late 1973. The Army found, however, that "there is overwhelming evidence that the collusive bidding practices are still controlled by or sanctioned by the Korean Government.'

Proxmire Disclosea Summaries Summaries of two recent Army investigative reports were made public today by Senator William Proxmire, Democrat of Wisconsin, who protested that "collusive bidding practices backed with strong-arm enforcement by Korean contractors is costing American taxpayers $15 million to $25 million annually."

On the basis of discussions with Pentagon officials, Proxmire aides said there were indications that lo the past the Korean intelligence agency and the Korean national police had financed part of their programs out of the artificially high prices charged the United States Army procurement agency in South Korea.

A Program to Test Commercial Use of Plutonium Reported Part of Comprehensive Plan

By DAVID BURNHAM

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27-President Ford is expected to announce tomorrow a comprehensive United States plan to combat the spread of nuclear weapons. The plan appears to contemplate a multimillion aclar Government program to test the commercial use of plutonium, the raw material of nuclear weapons.

The plan was originally scheduled to. be announced today by Mr. Ford in Dayion, Ohio, but was delayed, according to the White House press office, to permit time for the arrangement of a background briefing for reporters.

The New York Times obtained a detailed account of Mr. Ford's prepared statemeot, in which he sets forth his plan to prevent a spread of nuclear weapons, and a copy of a 36-page confidential memorandum to the President that server! as a principal supporting document for the statement. A Test of Control Devices

One advantage cited for the possible evaluation program in the supporting memorandum was that it would provide a way to test the technology needed to maintain absolute control over every tiny fragment of plutonium, should the decision ultimately be made to use it.

A second advantage cited is that a test would not give the rest of the world a clear signal that the United States was moving ahead with the commercial use of plutonium.

Damascus Is Reported to Have 30,000 or More Troops in Country

By HENRY TANNER

BEIRUT, Lebacon, Oct. 27-Syria is authoritatively reported to have at least 30,000 soldiers in Lebanon now and is in a position to carry out singlehandedly the decisions made last night by Arab kings and presidents at their conference in Cairo.

The Arab leaders decided that the present multinational Arab force of about 2,500 men should be increased to 30,000 but failed to agree on whose troops should be added. Syria was thus apparently left with a mandate to enforce the current cease-fire, now a week old, to bring about the withdrawal of rival Lebanese and Palestinian fighting forces and to establish a degree of public safety under the official direction of Lebanon's President, Elias Sarkis.

Until recently the best estimate of the number of Syrian troops in Lebanon had een 20,000. The 30,000 figure, according to authoritative sources, was given 10 days ago by Syria's President Hafez al-Assad, at the Arab meeting on Lebanon that he attended with five other Arab aders at Riyadh, Saudi Arabia.

Nkomo: Rhodesian Nationalist With Key Stake in Geneva

By BERNARD WEINRAUB

Special to The New York Times GENEVA, Oct. 27-He sits on a sofa in his hotel suite, gently tapping a wooden swagger stick against the palm of his hand, welcoming visitors, laughing, embracing friends. "Optimist or pessimist—don't ask me these questions," Joshua Nkomo says with a grin. "These words are not in my vocabulary. I've come here to do a job, to settle, to settle for the real thing. Aod we're going to get the real thing, one way or another."

At the age of 59, Mr. Nkomo is the grand old man of nationalist politics in Rhodesia, the most moderate and popular black leader, a figure who has worked a lifetime for black majority rule and a man who accepts that the current conference may be the last chance to work out a peaceful settle-ment io the nation of 270,000 whites and six million blacks.

Moreover, Mr. Nkomo has a crucial personal stake in the conference: If Prime Minister Ian D. Smith and the oationalists arrange a transition to ma-jority rule, Mr. Nkomo will dominate the black coalition governing the country. If the conference collapses and the guerrilla war expands, Mr. Nkomo realizes that his leadership role will be overtaken by young radicals and gueril-la leaders in the black nationalist camp.

Shrewdness and Fury Mr. Nkomo is a huge man. He weighs about 350 pounds, partly because of the sadza, a mealie porridge that he was fed during 12 years in detention for nationalist activity. At first glance his shrewdness—and personal fury at Mr. Smith—is masked by a relaxed. jovial and backslapping outgoing per-sonality. He could be an old-time Tammany politician.

But, asked by a visitor the other night whether he was hostile to Mr. Smith, whether he resented sitting near the white man who imprisoned him, Mr. Nkomo paused, his eyes glistened and he said in a hoarse whisper:

"I'm not a bitter person, I'm not bitter toward acycoe. But you know ... you know that man tortured me. still talk to him. And I remain a smiling and bappy person, despite the tortures I've gone through from

A Sophisticated Organization

"I'll tell you, at times you do feel some of these chaps are sick people. Why do they do it? You can't imagine a person who throws people into prison without trial for 10, 12, 13 years. There are nearly who went into detention are people who went into detention with us and are still there. And to think the people wbo put them into prison are buman beings. What is it? Why do they do it?"

Mr. Nkomo, a former carpenter, railway worker and union leader, was a founding member io 1952 of the once-powerful African National Council, the first serious nationalist movement in Rhodesia. And wheo it was banned in 1959, he became head of the Zimbabwe African People's Union.

Although the party is banned inside Rhodesia and is theoretically defunct, it has left a sophisticated political organization that has enabled Mr. Nkomo to mobilize support and cement his ties with Kenneth D. Kaunda of Zambia, Julius K. Nyerere of Tanzania and Seretse Khama of Botswana. Mr. Nkomo. who has close ties to white Rhodesian businessmen, is also believed to have the support of Secretary of State Henry

His opponents say Mr. Nkomo is an opportunist, overaccommodating to the white minority, a member of a minority tribe, the Matabele, a man who has lost touch with growing numbers of young militants and guerrillas based in oeighboring Mozambique.

The Contrasts Are Vivid

To shape some unity in the divided nationalist ranks, Mr. Nkomo forged an uneasy alliance two weeks ago with a former opponeot, Robert Mugabe, a radical teacher with close links to Rho-desia's guerrila movement. Mr. Mu-gabe broke with Mr. Nkomo in 1963 and helped found the rival and more extreme Zimbabwe African National

The cootrasts between the two men and their supporters are vivid. Mr. Mugabe, who wears loose-fitting trousers and open-necked shirts, is publicity-shy and surrounded by diffident and often suspicious youths who stand oear his suite on the seventh floor of the Inter-Continental Hotel. An efficient Chinese-American young woman arranges his appointments with the press and calls him "Comrade Mugabe."

On the fifth floor of the hotel, Mr. Nkomo, dapper in a colorful bush suit, is usually flaoked by middle-aged, middle-class aides, some of them educated in the United States, Several of them say privately that the Geoeva confer-ence, designed to set up a transition to black majority rule, is probably the last opportunity to work out a peaceful settlement among Rhodesia's whites and blacks. And, they insist, Mr. Nkomo is the only viable black leader to lead the transition.

Mr. Nkomo brushes aside the remaining two nationalist leaders at the coo-ference—Bishop Abel Muzorewa and the Rev. Ndabaniogi Sitbole-and asserts that the two are without support of the guerrilla fighters in Mozamique. Nonetheless, African presidents have sought, through telephone calls and negotiations, to work out as understanding among the nationalists here to serve as a unified group in negotia-tions with Mr. Smith. Tribal, personal and political rivalries have traditionally divided the Rhodesian nationalists. We want independence for the peo-missed the idea in their editorials.

Mr. Macmillan was in office wheo Britain was relatively prosperous. Curinnsly, his Edwardian style was appreciated by the masses. The speed with which his opponents publicly cootradicted him suggested to some observers that they feared he might have struck a popular chord only the Liberal Party, with 13 members in the House of Commos, came out strongly for an emergency chalitinn. The Liberals' only chance of sharing power at present seems in be in such a coalition.

LONDON, Oct 27—A suggestinn by Margaret Thatcher, leader of the Con-Harold Macmillan, a former Conservative servative Party and Prime Minister James Prime Minister that Britain should have Callaghan saw no merit in the idea of a "government of national unity" to get a coalition. The last coalition came during it, out of its economic mess, has been rejected out of hand by both major political parties.

Nevertheless, the 82-year-old Tory, who led the government from 1957 to 1963, drew praise from many ordinary Britons whn said that they deplored party police.

Sir Harold Wilson, the former Labor Party chief whn retired as Prime Minister in April, said he would rather see a strong Conservative government than coali-tinn.

Mr. Macmillan envisioned "a government, of the center drawn from all parties" and composed of persons who had "the good will of the people." He called fur "a national government," a phrase that to elderly working men recalled the 1931 Lahor-Tory-Liberal "national" covernment of the Labor Prime

Juan Carlos, Visiting Paris, Pushes Effort by Spain to Refurbish Image

by James M. Markham

MADRID, Oct. 27—The three-day state visit that King Juan Carlos is paying to on the telephone.

Shortly after Prime Minister Adolfo. Shortly after Prime Minister Adolfo. Suarez González was oamed head of "the national respectability in the wake of the second Government of the monarchy". national respectability in the wake of the death of Generalissimo Francisco Franco

America, has been the most visible pioneer of the warming process, which feeds back into the politics of Soain. Last June, in a milestone visit to the United States, he promised a joint session of Congress that Spain would have "au-thentic liberty." It was the most liberal speech the King has made—and its impact was far greater inside Spain than

The visit to France by King Juan Carlos and Queen Sofia is not expected to produce dramatic results, but as his first official journey in Western Europe since Franco's death, "it closes a pareothesis of 40 years," in the words of a French official official.

Visit to Germany Expected

"The goal of the operation," the official contioued, "is to show that relations between France and Spain have become normal again."
The King is expected to visit West Gernany next year.

Psychologically, Spain has drawn closer to France than to any other European country since Juan Carlos became head of state. "After all." a diplomat remarked, not altogether jokingly, "he is a Bourbon

The 38-year-old King, who has just re-turned from a triumphal tour of Latio substance to Spain's new position in the There has been more atmosphere than West, and a number of European governments, lobbied energetically by Spanish opposition figures, are withholding en-dorsements until a democratic government is elected. The process is an uneven one. One reek, Spain's liberal Foreign Minister. Marcelino Oreja Aguirre, signs the Declaration of Furnan Rights at the United Nations. Three weeks later, the Government refuses to permit Spain's main Eocialist party to hold its international congress in Madrid, stirriog criticism from European Socialist parties.

"is not something that will give im-mediate results," observed José Maria Arcine, who served as the King's first foreign minister and an architect of the program abroad. "But there has been a change of image—that is irreversible." It is a common assumption here that a democratic Spain will eventually join the European Common Market, but the economic advantages are still being debated among industrialists, who heve enjoyed a considerable amount of govern-

Chinese Chief Accuses Chiang Ching

Tse-tung's widow, Chiang Ching, had overstating her role in the Cultural Revo-tried to increase her power by a series lution and downgrading that of her husof unauthorized actions, including an extraordinary week-long interview with an American woman scholar in 1972.

. The charges have been made in an offi-cial editorial and in wall posters, and have also been reported in the respected independent Hong Kong newspaper Ming Pao. According to Ming Pao, Mr. Hua made his accusation to explain why he had ordered Miss Chiang and three other senior leftists arrested.

Ming Pao said that Mr. Hua had told the Politburo that when Chairman Mao found out about the interview with the American, Roxane Witke, he was furious —word to that effect came out of China a year ago—and that it adversely affected his health. Mr. Hua reportedly said that Miss Chiang had used the interview "to establish a cult of herself" and had between the control of the contro trayed party secrets to a foreigner.

Ming Pao said Mr. Rua and another Polithuro member, Wang Tung-hsing, who was once head of Mao's bodyguards, had also charged that Miss Chiang had sent documents and personal letters to army units, allegedly to ingratiate herself and split the army, and had defied Mao's orders to limit her activities.

This was a reference to Mr. Rissinger's assertion that the United States would take a grave view of any Soviet military moves against China.

"Sowing discord in relations between the U.S.S.R. and China is not a new tactic of imperialist propaganda," the hroad-cast said. But this tactic has been "escalated to such a state that various arguments and hypotheses regarding how the United States would

FREE PRESS AN ISSUE-AT UNESCO MEETING

Proposed Resolution to Define Role and Responsibilities Is Sharply Debated in Kenya

By MICHAEL T. KAUFMAN
Special to The New York Times

NAIROBI, Kenya, Oct. 27—The most contentious issue looming for the UNES-CO conference that began here yesterday centers largely on political perceptions of what constitutes a free press.

of what constitutes a free press.

On one side are the representatives of countries, mainly from the third world, that believe the free flow of ideas as now practiced by the world media reflects values and imparts information that obstruct the process of nation-huilding and a search for national identity.

that obstruct the process of nation-huilding and a search for national identity.

On the other side are those countries that have historic and constitutional traditions of a free press. Their representatives here helieve there is a threat that the conference may adopt a declaration affirming the right of any country to control the gathering of news and dissemination by foreign newsmen.

At issue is the 69th item on the conference agenda, a draft declaration proposed four years ago by representatives of the Soviet Union's Republic of Byelorussia and shelved at the last two meetings, only to be submitted at a Paris meeting last December for inclusion at the meeting here.

The delegations of the United States and several Western countries walked out of the December meeting of UNESCO, the United Nations Scientific, Educational and Cultural Organization, in protest.

The controversial draft is entitled,

"Declaration of Fundamental Principles Governing the Use of the Mass Media in Strengthening Peace and International Understanding and in Comhating War Propaganda, Racism and Apartheid." For the most part, the two-page draft affirms a commitment to foster exchanges between nations through the mass media "to develop feelings of friendship and mutual respect."

But in the basically innocuous wording of the articles is one article that set off a lobbying effort. It says "states are reof the articles is one article that set off a lohbying effort. It says "states are responsible for the activities in the international sphere of all mass media under their jurisdiction."

This is taken to mean that countries would be able with impunity and with

This is taken to mean that countries would be able with impunity and with the legitimacy of an international edict behind them to har or deport foreign correspondents whose work was considered offensive. In fact, many countries in the world do limit access by representatives of the foreign press. As sovereign states, they have that power through their control of visas and immigration.

But the critics of the draft declaration here fear that its adoption here would remove restraint now seen as inhibiting some countries from adopting tight controls over foreign reporters.

Press Campaign Is Charged

John E. Reinhardt, Assistant Secretary of State for Public Affairs, who is heading the United States delegation, declared that "there are sentences and clauses and phrases" in the draft declaration "that seem to advocate state control and these are totally unacceptable to any nation whose foundation is press freedom, freedom of speech."

Mr. Reinhardt added that the resolution seemed to have the support of the Soviet hloc, where he said "a free press is anathema," and of many third-world countries that "argue that their populations are daily exposed to a barrage of foreign communications media."

Mr. Reinhardt has made it clear that his delegation believes the dehate on the press issue to be perhaps the most critical at the meeting. The seriousness with which the United States views the matter. is suggested by the appointment of Clayton Kirkpatrick, editor of The Chicago Tribune, as the third-ranking member of the delegation.

During a long address to the delegates, Amadou-Mahtar M'Bow, the UNESCO director general, said that there had been a press campaign that "has tended to give a false interpretation of the aims as well as the concepts of the organization of the aims as well as the concepts of the organization's media policy."

of the organization's media policy."
"UNESCO has been accused of attempting to limp freedom of expression, of proposing the nationalization of information networks, of favoring control of information by governments."

Mr. M'Bow is under great pressure from the West on the press question. He said that Item 69 had sharply divided the member states, but he suggested that compromise on the issue was possible, one that would reconcile the organization's commitment to a free flow of information and unfettered expression with narrowing what he regarded as the gap in media emphasis and objectives separating the industrialized countries from the developing ones.

Meanwhile, a search continued for

Meanwhile, a search continued for backstage solutions to defuse the issue and avoid a confrontation with the United States, which has already used its economic muscle by withholding contributions.

In his speech, Mr. MBow acknowledged the grave financial problems caused by the withholding of contributions by the United States in opposition to the organization's exclusion of Israel from regional participation.

At one point, he said that the organization's executive board bad suggested that acceptance of any nation within a regional group be left to the members of that region rather than to the full body, which had blacklisted Israel from joining the European group.

According to a number of Western

According to a number of Western delegates, this issue seems to have been resolved in preliminary negotiations and these delegates seemed to feel today that Israel would be welcomed by a majority vote in the European region.

I Can't Let You Vote Without Telling You the Good News this Man Has Brought to New York

DURING THE PAST SEVERAL WEEKS New York has been given a raft of good news. Final commitment to tens of thousands of new jobs, billions of dollars in new construction funds, an end to the dumping of raw sewage into our rivers. All that and a great deal more that will help put New York back on its feet. Terrific? Sure. I waited for somebody to shoot off fireworks — but nobody did. Nobody seemed to know what had happened or about the one man who brought it all off. I knew, because I was standing on the sidelines when the good news broke. If nobody else is going to tell you about it, well, I will. The name of the man who has quietly been working miracles for New York is Jim Buckley. Jim Buckley? That's right, Jim Buckley. Here's what I saw him do:

ONE. You may not know it, but we've been dumping raw sewage into New York harbor from Manhattan, Staten Island, and Brooklyn — 200 million gallons of it every day. Federal funds were earmarked years ago to build sewage treatment plants at North River, Oakwood Beach, and Red Hook.

What kept construction from getting under way? It's a long, heartbreaking story, but the answer, in a word, is bureaucracy.

One obstacle was New York's fiscal crisis. The construction unions and the General Contractors Association came up with a plan to finance the city's share, but that ran into a dead end in Washington.

It was then that the unions and contractors appealed to Jim Buckley. "They keep telling us in Washington we've got to help ourselves," they said. "Well we're trying, but they're not listening." Buckley listened. He devised a variation on the financing plan and he interceded with EPA administrator Russell Train to unsnari the redtape that had blocked the project for so many years.

Now the funds — $1.2 billion — have been released, the plan is approved, and construction will proceed in 60 days. This will put 15,000 men to work. It'll clean up the harbor of the world's largest city. It'll free the beaches of Nassau and Suffolk from pollution.

You probably know that the lower westside of Manhattan has been sliding from genteel decay to downright disintegration. There's a plan, of course, to turn all this around. To make parks bloom where unused docks and railroad yards are turning to rot and rust; to revitalize the printing industry and the garment industry and the meat market; to make new housing and a new six-lane highway that's mostly underground. The plan is called The Westway and not the least of its attractions is that it will bring the city treasury 100 million dollars in direct payment from the sale of its decaying piers.

The Westway, like the unbuilt sewage treatment plants, was also snarled in redtape. This time, Jim Buckley appealed to President Ford himself and the President agreed to come to a meeting with the unions and contractors in New York. I was there and I heard the President say, "Jim Buckley has been knocking down the walls of the west wing of the White House, pleading the cause of New York. I am listening and I am acting today by approving The Westway." He authorized the immediate start of demolition with new construction to begin in Spring of 1977. The project will bring $1.4 billion to New York's economy and 24,000 new jobs.

had been waiting for a commitment of mortgage money from the Federal Housing Agency. Without it, the commercial and residential development just couldn't get going.

Yesterday, there was a groundbreaking ceremony signaling the start of the first phase of the $1.5 billion project. Behind that breakthrough was H.U.D. Secretary Carla Hills' agreement last week to expedite a $65 million mortgage guarantee. With whom was this "agreement" reached? You guessed it right: Jim Buckley.

In the words of a Daily News editorial earlier this week: "New York has an immense stake in Battery Park City: It will create 1,600 more dwelling units for middle- and lower-income families, and provide jobs for 27,000 workers. Equally important is the psychological lift it will give to the city at a time when one is badly needed."

I DON'T KNOW if I've changed your mind any. I hope I may have opened your eves to a few things you may not have known. It's no secret that I admire and support Jim Buckley. Or, that I am a member of the General Contractors Association of New York. I envy you New Yorkers because you can vote for Jim Buckley to be your Senator. I can't, that's the irony, because my home is in New Jersey.

The question was whether the unspent money was still somewhere in the Federal budget system, and thus certain to be spent at some future date, or whether the underspending was simply the result of incorrect estimates. In the latter case, the money would not be spent in the

'The Transition Quarter'

The specific figures made public by the arguments about the proper future course of Government economic policy.

Economists in Disagreement

In the weeks since it first became evident that the Government was underspending its estimates, economists have disagreed over whether additional Government stimulus might be needed to get the economic recovery going again.

The specific figures made public by the Treasury and budget office were those for what is called the "Transition quasiter," the period marking the conversion between the 1976 fiscal year, which was Oct. 1. In the future, the Government's fiscal year will run from Oct. 1 through Sept. 30.

The figures showed that in the 'transition quarter," the Government spent $94.5 billion and ran a deficit of $12.7

billion. The collections, at $81.8 billion, were only $100 million less than the January

Among the major programs for which spending had been overestimated were defense, where the shortfall in spending was $3.6 billion, compared with the January estimate; highway construction, where the shortfall was $1 billion, and Veterans benefits, about $500 million.

On other programs, the Government simply failed to guess correctly bow much it would spend, and the underspending in those areas will not be made up in the future. The main ones in this category are Social Security, $30 million; Medicare, $100 million; public assistance, $100 million; child nutrition, $400 million; interest, $600 million, and failure be spent in the following year.

Thus it appeared unlikely that the new budget would be greatly increased by the spending of unspent funds carried over credit." $300 million.

Crew member on a gilnetter fishing boat sets his net in Hood Canal, 30 miles southeast of Seattle, as dusk falls

Interests Collide Over Puget Sound Fishing

PUGET SOUND, Wash., Oct. 27—It was wet and cold Monday night aboard the Keta, a 34-foot gilinetter fishing boat, as it arrived in Hood Canal, a natural arm of Puget Sound, after a two-bour trip from Seattle, 30 miles southeast.

Bruce Samuelson, the 25-year-old owner, master and sole crewman of the new $50,000 boat, did not seem to notice the steady drizzle or nearfreezing temperature as he laid out his ,800-foot-long nylon net in the last light of winter sun.

Nor did Mr. Samuelson or the 30 other canal-area gillnetters, fisbermen who trap salmon by their gills as they return to nearby spawning grounds, seem to mind that their fishing bas been branded illegal by state agencies and a Federal judge or that they have been described as "renegades" destroying the salmon fishing industry.

"If I don't fish, the bank takes my boat; if I do, the state or Feds will try," said the affable Minnesotan who began gillnetting four years ago.

Reverse Discrimination Cited "Besides," be added, "the state courts support us in our contention that racial quotas can't be set no matter what the Federal judge or the Indians say."
It is this belief that they are suffering from reverse discrimination that has caused more than 100 gillnetters, to flout a Federal court order and state regulations against fishing in the sound except on rare occasions.

They risk arrest, confiscation of catches and loss of fishing licenses in confrontations with patrol officers of the Washington Department of Fisberies and Indian tribal police.

On Sunday night, a gillnetter was shotgunned by a state officer who thought the fisherman was about to ram the state's smaller boat. The fisherman was about to ram the state's smaller boat.

ram the state's smaller boat. The risb-erman remains in serious condition with pellets in his bead.

State and tribal officials say that in earlier confrontations, boats have been rammed and nearly swamped by angry gilinetters. The fisherman admit to harsing officials in boats, but deny any attempts to drown them or burt them.

The gillnetters and other commerical fisherman, along with sports fishermen and much of the general population, bere in western Washington, see the fishing problems and confrontations arising from the February 1974 decision by United States District Judge George H. Dolt.

It held that under the provisions of several 120-year-old treaties, five Indian tribes in the area must be guaran-eed the chance to catch 50 percent of the harvestable salmon stock returning after four years at sea to off-reservation waters shared by Indians and non-Indians.

Complex Situation But the situation involves far more than Indian fishing rights versus the gillnetters. Also at issue are states' rights, with state and Federal courts opposing each other at this point; the changing nature of commercial fishing and fish management as the investment and size of fleets grow, and the evolving rights of the Indian tribes.

"The gillnetters cut their own throats early this spring when they sided with the ocean trollers who opposed any re-strictions on time and places for ocean fishing," said Donald W. Moos, state Director of Fisheries.

"So when the trollers had a record catch and the sports fishermen had a better-than average catch, that was counted against the non-Indian 50 percent quota; and you can't catch a fish twice," he added. "I am directed by the Federal court order to see that Indians get a chance at 50 percent and also seeing that sufficient salmon re-turn to the streams for propagation." Because the Indian fleet is only one-

tenth the size of the commercial fleets and because the Indians fish closer to river beadwaters, they must be given longer fishing times to catch their estimate that the Indians take no more than I2 percent of all the harvestable salmon that come into the area. Mr. Moos said that so few salmon have made it into Puget Sound this year that the illegal catches by the gill-netters could decimate some hatcheries and destroy the possibility of sufficient salmon runs four years from now.

Mr. Samuelson and other gillnetters dismiss this, saying, "Indians can fish right in front of the hatcheries." They also say that fishermen such as Mr. Samuelson have $10,000 mortgage payments due on their boats every year. Mr. Samuelson gets $1.05 per pound of salmon currently, and his average fish runs around eight pounds each.

"I have a lot of sympathy for the gillnetters, but there were too many of them and the number of salmon were declining even before the Boldt decision." said James C. Waldo, the Assistant United States Attorney bere most deeply involved in the fishing

Mr. Waldo said that his sympathy bas not permitted his office from having the Federal Bureau of investigation brought into the dispute to see whether Indian civil rights have been violated or whether the gillnetters are guilty of obstruction of justice in opposing the orders of Judge Boldt.

The Coast Guard is also expected to take administrative action very soon against gillnetters who have used their boats "recklessly" during the last month of confrontation with state and Indian officials.

The gilinetters have been encouraged by the fact that state courts have generally dismissed citations against them and have ignored Judge Boldt's orders by holding that state law pre-vents the Department of Fisheries from setting any fishing limits other than for conservation. These fishermen have even gone to

These fishermen have even gone to the State Supreme Court in an effort to get an order directing the state to ignore Judge Boldt's decision. That case will be heard Nov. 9.

"Judge Boldt has great respect for the state's jurists, but there can be no doubt what the outcome will be if the state and Federal courts clash," said Dr. Richard Whitney, the University of Dr. Richard Whitney, the University of Washington fisheries professor who is Judge Boldt's technical adviser in the fishing matter. "This is the same argument for states' rights in every civil rights issue from Mississippi to Boston and they've gotten nowbere," be added.

"The Indians are entitled by Federal treaty signed in 1854 and 55 to their fishing and bunting rights in return for the land they gave up then," said Alvin Ziontz, senior partner of the law firm in Seattle that represents the Lummi Makah, Quileute, Puyallup, Minckle-shoot and Skokomish Indian tribes in the current court battles.

Mr. Waldo, who is handling the United States prosecution in this case, said that be felt "the solution is to reduce the non-Indian fleet and enhance the salmon runs." He added that the built-up Indian fleet could provide salmon to the nation while building new financial ises for the reservations.

Forest Kinley, a Lummi Indian, who oversees reservation hatcheries, said the Indians were still being deprived of their rightful share of salmon "since the few that reach us in the rivers must generally be spared for spawning.

"I don't think a fish is worth the life of anybody," he added, "but if one of our people is drowned by those red neck gillnetters, there will be shoot-

RUNNING IS DEBATED AS BENEFIT TO HEART

Anyone Able to Go Marathon Route Will 'Never Die' of Coronary Attack, Barbizon-Plaza Meeting Told

By BAYARD WEBSTER

The oature of the benefits that can accrue from a regular program of joggiog, running six miles or more or running the marathon distance of 26 miles, 385 yards was debated at a scieotific conference here yesterday in the wake of New York City's first marathon race last Sunday.

The conference, spoosored by the New York Academy of Scieoces, attracted about 400 doctors, researchers and exponents of running—most of them trim and slim—who are atteoding the academy's four-day meeting on the health aspects of strenuous exercise and marathon running

The most extreme view of benefits of marathon running was presented by Dr. Thomas J. Bassler, a California pathologist who runs the marathan distance and frequently accompanies heart patients when they run that route.

Dr. Bassler noted that at least five heart attack patients, one who had undergone double chronary artery bypass sur-gery just four months ago, had run in the New York marathon finishing in about our hours. He told the conference in the Barbizon-Plaza Hotel that any persoo who built up his stamina over a period of time to the point where he could run the marathoo distance "would oever die of a heart attack.'

Some Skepticism Expressed

He said his pathological studies had shown that marathon runners developed enlarged hearts and arterial passages that precluded the possibility of clots blocking blood flow to the heart. He added that most reported cases of fatal heart attacks among runners were actually cases of heat stroke, electric disturbance of heart rhythms or other causes.

His views were greeted with skepticism by many of the medical specialists present. Dr. Paul Milvy of the Environmental Sciences Laboratory, Mount Sinai School of Medicine, chairman of the conference, noted that the greatly increased interest in the last decade in jogging and biking had led to a more recent interest in marathoo running. He estimated that there are oow teo to tweoty thousand in the United States, many nf them older persons, who run or jog the marathon distance.

He also noted that among the 1,981 men and 107 women who entered the New York marathoo, there were 352 in their forties, 88 in their fifties and 20 in their 60's. One was 71 years old. The relatively recent avalanche of mid-

· Only a few studies of the effects of egular exercise on persons with heart problems have been made because of the elatively short time that exercise programs for heart patients have heen in operation. One of the largest of these s being conducted at the Toronto Rehailitation Centre in Ontario by Dr. Terince Kavanagh.

Dr. Kavanagh, who ran in the New York marathon and completed the course in slightly more than four hours, told the conference that his exercise coronary rehabilitation program had been testing 780 patients for seven years.

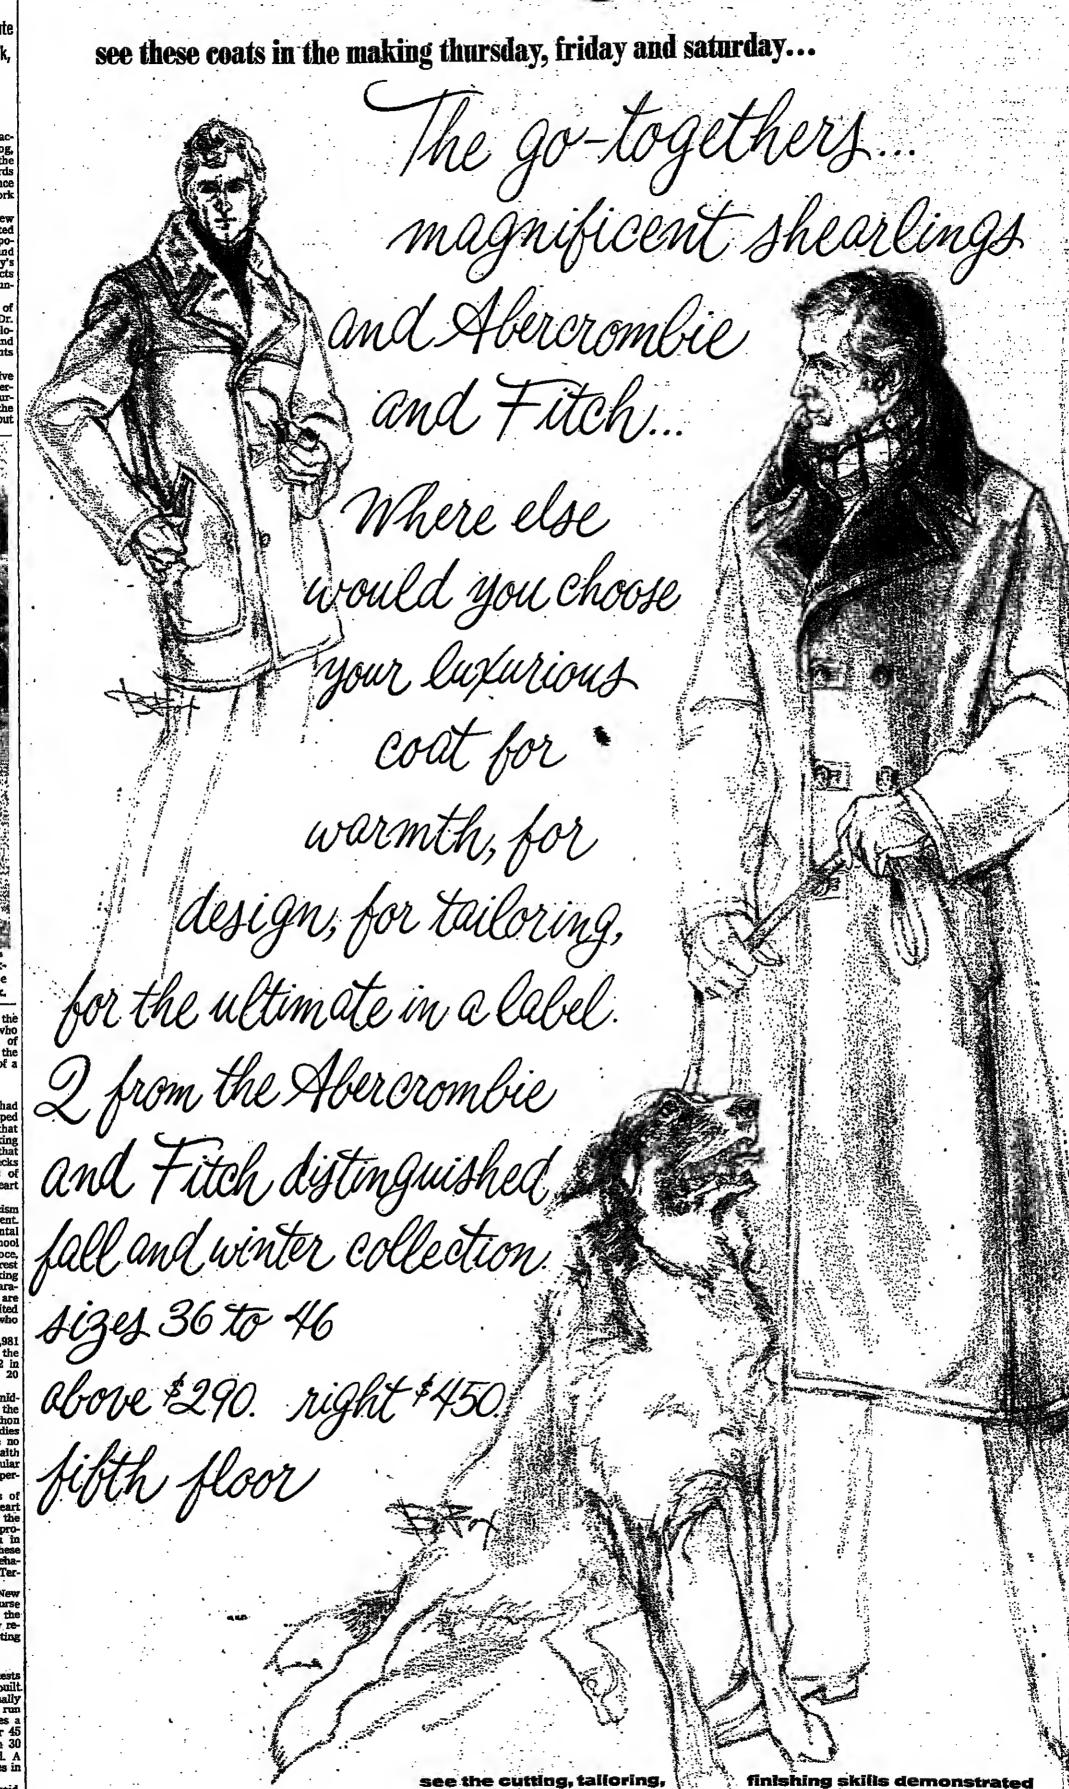

Running Capacity Increased

After an initial series of stress test for each patient, persons over 45 built. no their heart-lung capacity gradually to a point where they are able to run three miles at a speed of 12 minutes a mile five times a week. Those under 45 should be able to do three miles in 30 minutes five times a week, he said. A small perceotage of the group engages in marathon-distance runs. Studies of these patients, he said, showed that they had a fatal recurrence rate of 1.4 percent a year. This compares with most studies that show a fatal re-currence rate for heart attack victims in the populatioo-at-large of 6 to 12 percent. Dr. Kavanagh said that the rate of pon-fatal recurrances of heart attacks among patients in the exercise program approximated 1.5 percent a year. This compared with a rate of from 7 to 13 percent in the population-at-large.

VITAMIN C IS CALLED NO RELIEF FOR COLDS

Scientists Say Earlier Assertions Were Wrong After New Study Shows a Negative Finding

BOSTON, Oct. 27 (AP)—Researchers who said two years ago that Vitamin C might relieve the common cold now conclude that the drug does not significantly ease symptoms of the sniffles.

The doctors, who were among the first to confirm the relieving powers of the vitamin, say now that their earlier assertions were wrong.

"We do not believe that Vitamin C has videspread usefulness as a cold remedy," the doctors concluded.

The new study was directed by Dr. John F. Coulehan at the University of Pittsburgh Medical School. It is reported in an issue of the New England Journal Medicine to be published tomorrow.

Advocated by Nobel Laureate

The virtues of Vitamin C have been debated since Linus Pauling, the Nobel laureate, said in 1970 that people who took large daily doses of the drug would have fewer colds. He also said the colds they did get would be less severe.

To test that theory, Dr. Coulehan and his acceptance experimented with students.

his associates experimented with students at a Navajo boarding school in Arizona. They concluded in 1974 that students who took Vitamin C had milder colds.

"Our study got a lot of publicity and was used to argue that Vitamin C was beneficial." Dr. Coulehan said in an interview. "Because of this, we went into a second study that was longer and more controlled."

The second time, the doctors said they watched the health of 868 Navajo children at schools in Steamboat and Lower Greasewood, Ariz. Half took Vitamin C and the rest received placebos, or fake pills. After five months, the number and length of the colds were almost identical between the two groups, the doctors said. 'Finding Was Negative'

"Our important finding was negative," Dr. Coulehan said. "We were unable to demonstrate significant benefits of Vitamin C."

Dr. Coulehan noted that some other researchers were still reporting mile benefits to cold victims from Vitamin C. He said scientists theorized that, in some cases, the vitamin had an effect on the body similar to an antihistamine.

But he said that even if Vitamin C did help dry up runny noses, this was not enough reason to take large quanti-

"I don't think there is any evidence to recommend Vitamin C in large doses when a person has a cold." Dr. Coulehan said. "There are other antihlstimines available."

3 in Chowchilla Case Seek To Move Kidnapping Trial; News Coverage Is Cited

MADERA, Calif., Oct. 27 (UPI)-Three young men from the San Francisco area accused of kidnapping 26 children and their driver from a school bus, fought today to get their trial moved out of the ural county where the children live

Defense attorneys brought in scores of newpapers, radio and television scripts tapes and films in an effort to show that the people of Madera County were ao heavily bombarded with publicity in the case that a fair jury could not be chosen

James Schoenfeld, 24 years old; his brother, Richard, 22, and Fred N. Woods, 24, all from well-to-do families, entered picas of not guilty to the 27 charges of kidnapping and 18 charges of robbery in connection with the hijacking of a school bus near Chowchilla, Calif., last July 15.

The 26 children aboard, and the driver Ed Ray, were taken to a rock quarry in Alameda County southeast of San Francisco and imprisoned in a buried fur-niture van, from which they escaped after 18 hours. No motive has been disclosed for the kidnapping, linked to the suspects by evidence turned up at the quarry. Edward Merrill, a defense attorney, bmitted more than 150 newspapers car pomitted more than 150 newspapers car-ying accounts of the kidnapping, along with the broadcast scripts and tapes. A part of the coverage by station KMJ-IV of Frenso, Calif., was shown in the ourtroom of Superior Court Judge Jack Hammerberg. The defendants watched 2 intently.

District Attorney David Minler argued against a transfer to another county. He said the case had been heavily publicized throughout the state and that it would e as easy to get an impartial jury in dadera County as anywhere else. Mr. Merrill said that he did not expect se trial to begin until next spring.

Death Penalty: A Dying Law

New York State's Statute Is Likely to Be Replaced

By TOM GOLDSTEIN

Eddie Lee Mays was put to death by electrocution in the New York State prison at Ossining on the night of Aug. 15, 1963. Convicted of killing a woman pa-tron of a Bronx bar that he had held up, he was the 614th person to die in the Sing Sing chair since 1891. By 1963, electrocutions were fairly rare in New York State, but Mr. Mays's death went largely unnoticed. Since then, the state's electric

Few of these exute will survive many more months, and the likelihood is that the Legislature will enact a new statute next year.

The New York State statute, which was enacted in 1974, was declared nn-constitutional Tuesday by Acting State Supreme Court Justice Peter J. McQuillan, who said it constituted "cruel and unusual punishment."

Under the statute, once a defendant is convicted of killing a police or correction officer, or if the defendant in a murder case is already serving a life sentence, then the judge has no choice but to impose the death penalty. Statutes similar pose the death penalty. Statutes similar to the New York me were struck down last July by the United States Supreme Court because they did nut allow enough discretion in sentencing.

Justice McQuillan's decision is nut binding no other judges, but they would undoubtedly consider it in death-penalty.

doubtedly consider it in death-penalty cases.

But the Court of Appeals is expected to strike down the law before it is applied too many more times. According to the District Attorneys in Manhattan, Brooklyn, the Bronx, Queens and Staten Island, no nne is now facing trial in the city on a crime that would automatically lead to the imposition of the death negative.

One man has been convicted of a shooting death of a correction officer and is awaiting sentencing in Brooklyn. Another man, Joseph Eli Davis, was convicted last year of killing a Yonkers poiceman and was sentenced to death.

Appeals Ruling Due

At present Mr. Davis is the only per-son on the state's death row, and it is son on the state's death row, and it is his case that the Court of Appeals is scheduled to consider this winter.

Death rows elsewhere in the country are crowded. In its decisions last July, the United States Supreme Court said the death-penalty statutes in Georgia, Florida and Texas were acceptable. These give judges and juries guidance for determining whether the death sentence is appropriate in a particular case.

Execution dates have already been set in Georgia, but have been postponed so far, according to David Kendall of the N.A.A.C.P. Legal Defense and Educational Fund Inc., as lawyers have sought postconviction remedies.

The Georgia Statute which was signed.

The Georgia statute, which was signed by Jimmy Carter when he was Goverпот іл 1973, та provide a rough mod for a new death-penalty law in New York. It provides for two trials-one to determine guilt and the second to de-cide upon the penalty. To impose the death penalty, a judge or jury must find "beyond a reasonable doubt" that one of 10 specific "aggravating circum-stances"—such as a print conviction for another capital crime—is present in the case.

"We'll take a look at it," said Stanley
Fink, a Brooklyn Democrat, who is head of the State Assembly Codes Committee.

"Judging the mood of the Legislature, in my opinion a death-penalty bill will pass next year. It is my responsibility to draft the best possible bill."

Expanded Law Possible

Mr. Fink said he thought new legislation would cover more categories of murders than the present law. For example, he said, the death penalty might also cover "killers for hire nr killers of witnesses." He said be doubted that new legislation would apply to persons convicted of the arrange of killers for the ar legislation would apply to persons convicted of rape, arson or kidnapping.

If such a statute is passed by both bouses of the Legislature, there is some question that it would be signed by Governor Carey. If it were to take effect, there would be months—if not years—of court tests over its validity.

Governor Carav's lest public statement

Governor Carey's last public statement on the death penalty came in a position paper on crime issued Aug. 5, 1974 when he was campaigning for Governor. Talking about the death penalty then, Mr. Carey said: "I would not sign any bill in the absence of compelling evidence of the deterrence value." deterrence value." Few issues in the criminal law have been as volatile or emotional as the death penalty, with its backers arguing that it not only serves as a deterrent but also provides society with a needed sense of

In last July's opinion, the majority of the Supreme Court acknowledged that the value of capital punishment as a deterrent was not known. Dozens of studies have come up with inconclusive and con-flicting results.

An Expression of Moral Outrage The Supreme Court said: "In part, capital punishment is an expression of society's moral outrage at particularly offensive conduct. This function may be un-appealing to many, but it is essential in an ordered society that asks its citizens to rely on legal procedures rather than self-help to vindicate their wrongs."

Opponents of the death penalty have argued that it has been applied unevenly and that retribution is not a valid purpose of the criminal law.

A recent Gallup poll showed that 65 percent of those asked favored the death penalty for some crimes - the highest percentage in 25 years. Upstate candidates for the New York Legislature have campaigned on pro-death penalty plat-

New Jersey told a joint session of that state's Legislature that he would sign a bill restoring the death penalty, although he believed it was "more an emotional response to deep fears of violence than a practical cure for crime."

have stopped it, and we have not made payments," he said.

William Toby, regional commissioner for Social and Rehabilitation Services of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, said he would disallow Federal reimbursement for any "questionable" Medicaid hospital admissions.

The corporation's objective, as explained by one of its fiscal officials yesterday, is to admit as many as 5,000 patients above its cormal bospital census by oext March. The additional patients, it was said, would generate $10 million in Medicaid fuods, with Federal Governmeet providing $5 million and the state, $2.5 million. The city pays the remaining 25 percent, which it simply applies to the corporatioo's budget.

According to corporation officials, the $7.5 million from Federal and state funds would go toward offsetting its projected $50 million hodget deficit in the current fiscal year.

The added reveoue, they said, would enable the corporation to save the joba of an eatimated 750 bospitals workers wbo, with several thousand others, face being dismissed as a result of demands by the state that the city cut its bospital

"The corporation is trying every way possibla to maximize ita third-party reveoue, including increasing the patient ceosus in municipal hospitals," said Donald Ashkenasa, acting senior vice president

Another corporation official out it this way: "We definitely are trying to fill every hed we can with Medicaid patients because they represent reimbursable third-party funds."

Action Is Called Forced

While Mr. Asbkenase and other corpo-ration officials agreed that actively at-tempting to admit additional patients rao counter to conventional health policies, they said they were forcad to seek them because of what they described as inequities and loconsistencies in reimbursement policies for public and private hospital

According to city and state health authorities, pressure to admit patients stems from the fact that Medicaid, Medicare, From the fact that Medicaid, Medicare, Blue Cross and other public and private bealth care insurers gear their reimbursement formulas to patients being admitted to hospitals, rather than those treated as outpatients.

Every time a Medicaid patient is treated in a city hospital clinic as an outpatient, corporation officials contend, the city loses money because the reimbursement rates do oot meet actual costs.

The corporation has up to now sponsored programs that avoid admissions, or at least shorten them, when they cannot be averted.

Health officials said that outpatient services represented a financial drain because they recovered far less Federal and state reimhursement funds than for inpa-

Medicaid reimburses the city by an average of $200 a day for every bed patient it covers. And since it costs the corporation about 70 percent of that figure just to support an empty bed, the reimbursement formula encourages it to fill the bed with a patient, whether it is medically justified or not, simply to

Formula Pictured as 'Insane'

Dr. Edmund O. Rothschild, a corporation senior vice president, and Mr. Asbkenase agree that the Medicaid reimburse-ment formula is "insane" and only encourages hospitals to admit patients who could be easily treated for far less money as outpatieots.

Stephen Berger, the executive director of the State Emergency Financial Control Board, which seeks to exert pressure on the corporation to cut its spending, described the reimbursement formulas of Federal programs and private insurers such as Blue Cross as "nailing patients

Mr. Ashkenase said, "If we were properly reimbursed for outpatient care, we wouldn't be trying to admit naw pa-tieots." But he said the corporation had no alternative and that individual hospital directors were being "presaured to maximize admissions."

As a result, poor persoos with Medicaid cards seeking treatment in municipal bospitals are now much more likely to be admitted as patients. Oo the other hand, city bealth officials insist that so many of the city's poor are in critical need of health and bospital care that the corporation will not have to fake any illnesses

Joseph Lynaugh, the executive director of the Health Systems Agency of New York City, a conprofit private planning group financed by the Federal Govern-ment, said that admission of patients who do not really require bospitalization "is golog on every day io the city's private voluntary bospitals."

"If the city is now going to do it to increase its Medicaid dollars," Mr. Lynaugh said, "it just shows how sick and crazy the reimbursement system is from top to bottom. It is simply making a chaotic situation more chaotic."

Nyquist Seeks to Bar Statewide Management Study of School System

BY LEONARD BUDER Special to The New York Times

ALBANY, Oct. 27-The New York State Education Commissioner, Ewald B Nyquist, has recommended that the Board of Regents reject a request by the State Commerce Commissioner, John S. Dyson. for an independent management study of the state's education system.

Instead of a statewide study, Mr. Nyouist said, the Regents should proceed with their planned study of the educational effectiveness, cost and governance of the New York City school system because he asserted "the major state with cause, he asserted, "the major state prob-lems of pupil performance" exist there. Mr. Nyquist's recommendation is likely to add to the strain that has developed

Oyster Bay Official Makes Guilty Plea On a Lesser Charge

Gerard P. Trotta, former Public Works Commissioner of the town of Oyster Bay, L.L. suddenly interrupted his trial on extortion charges yesterday in Federal Court in Brooklyn and pleaded guilty to a reduced charge of pressing for contributions to the town's Republican committee. The 48-year-old Republican official went on trial Oct. 19 on charges of extortion for withholding a town contract for a hulk-refuse facility until the contractor, William F. Cosulich, made a $3,000 contribution to the town's Republican committee.

But in what court observers saw as But in what court observers saw as a move by both sides to "play it safe," the Government yesterday submitted a superseding information document designed to eliminate the extortion charge, and Mr. Trotta entered his guilty plea. David G. Trager, the United States Attorney for the Eastern District, said his office was pleased with the agreement "because the maximum sentence was greater than penalties which have been imposed in cases involving more serious misconduct and because the charge to which Mr. Trotta pleaded more closely fit the conduct which the evidence at the trial established."

Court Appearance Set

Court Appearance Set

Mr. Trotta is scheduled to appear today to be sentenced by Judge John R. Bartels. He faces a maximum penalty of a year in jail and a $1,000 fine on his plea to the misdemeanor charge.

After accepting the guilty plea yesterday, Judge Bartels observed that the Government, in his opinion, "had a weak

Later, outside the courtroom, Mr. Trotta declared: "The charge is that I got cootri-butions for the Republican Party by push-ing for the contributions. They tell me it's against the law so I have pleaded to this. There is no admission that I tied contributions to contracts with the town because 1 didn't."

During the trial, Mr. Cosulich, the Government's chief witness, testified that he had been seeking the cootract for a feasi- son, and several construction companies.

The assistant, Ellen Rivellese, who was hired and let go in January because she was overweight and hypertense, filed a complaint with the State Division of Civil Rights, alleging that she had been "discriminate against because of her physical handicap."

The college physician told the division Mrs. Rivellese was "suffering from high blood pressure and weight in excess of 300 pounds."

The college trustees adopted a resolution that offered her "similar employ-lution that offered her "similar employ-maot after the second week in January, as soon as there is a similar opening and provided she is physically able to engage in such employment."

There's really nothing scary about hifi.

Sadly, a lot of people are listening to mediocresounding stereo compacts, instead of real high fidelity components, because something about hifi scares them.

Maybe it's the price. Maybe it's the complexity. But the truth is, hiff can cost less than compact stereo (Tech Hifi's systems start at $199). And everything you need to know in order to enjoy hifi our salespeople will tell you (at Tech Hifi the salespeople take the time to explain things).

What's our trick

If you've been shopping around for hifi, you've probably noticed the prices are lower at Tech Hifi.

Our trick is "buying power," Tech Hifi buys brand name components in enormous quantities for fifty-four locations! No other stereo store can sell so cheaply, because no other store can buy so cheaply.

Our buying power advantage is also the reason we can afford to offer extended warranties and fourteen Consumer Satisfaction Guarantees.

Even during a sale like this one, Tech Hifi can afford to offer low prices plus quarantees!

Dispute Over Con Ed

Mr. Meyer criticizes Mr. Caputo for not supporting his plan to replace the Con-solidated Edison Company with a public nonprofit power company. "I'd do away with Con Ed tomorrow if it were realistic, but it's oot," Mr. Caputo replied.

Polls give Mr. Caputo a slight edge, not surprisingly in view of his Italian background, which he shares with a sizable portion of the voters, and his representation of Yonkers in the Assembly. Yonkers is the heart of the Congressional district, producing about one-third of the votes (the Bronk portion yields fewer than one-quarter of the votes), and Mr. Caputo was re-elected two years ago from his predominantly Democratic district with 70 percent of the vote.

But Mr. Meyer's primary campaign got his oame widely knowo, and he was buoyed by the surprise endorsement this week by the Westchester-Ruckland Newspapers of the Ganoett chain, which had supported Mr. Caputo in both his Assembly races.

Paris Collections: Everything Seems to Tie In Nicely By BERNADINE MORRIS

Missoni's coat, above, is also a dress. Sonia Rykiel showed pullover with a Lagerfeld shirt, Kenzo shorts.

PARIS, Oct. 27—After the shocker of the return of the mini, the big fashion news in Paris involves clothes that you wrap and tie yourself into. Even the Missonis bave gotten into the act, a most civilized way of course. Knitted clothes have a natural give so they adjust to different body shapes, and Rosita Missoul has taken advantage of this built-in principle. She uses a series of drawstriogs to change the shape of her clothes, sometimes dramatically. Necklines open or close, sleeves are drawn up or left to flutter, halters turn into nne-shoulder designs.
"I did it so people could play with their clothes," Mrs. Missoni explained.
"Women should enjoy what they buy."
She expects that women will devise.

even more ways to wear the cinthes than she imagined. Her busband, Ottavio, has made the job cheerful by providing a gay and lively color palette for the distinctive stripes and geometric patterns that are the couple's signature—it is, of course, a spring and summer collection, and the colors are a lovely medley of greens, mauves and slate blues. Silk, cutton, rayon and wool are the yarns used alone and in combinatinn, to provide a variety of textures.

Among the other versatile notions the chuple have devised are bloomers that can be bloused over the knees or pulled down to the ankles and swimsuit tops than can be worn with skirts nr blnomers.

The new skirts are a special boon to Missoni fans who found themselves too broad in the beam to wear them previously. Knits have a habit of clinging indiscreetly. Now the skirts are positively voluminous, but so diaphanous they're oo burden to carry around. Paired with a drawstring jacket, the full skirts give a fresh look to the Missoni status knitwear. Sonia Rykiel declared in mellifluous tones, over the loudspeaker and in a pamphlet that printed her words like poetry, that fashlon does not exist, that it is, in fact, out of style. To reinforce her point she soowed one of her little new-length evening shifts with the word "mode" emblazaned on the front—an embroidered line through the word crossed it out. But that was toward the end of ber sbow. Earlier, she had quite a bit of fun with fashion. Captive Audience

One of her mannequins came out with a tag that said "Kari" pinned to her shirt, indicating it was Karl Lagerfeld, and another, reading "Kenzn," attached to her Bermuda shorts. The pullover by Rykiel was unidentified.

This caused a few chuckles from her captive audience squeezed like sardines on plastic toadstools in her shop on the Rue de Grenelle. Some even perched in the cubbyboles where her sweaters are stacked when a show is not in prog-

Another conceit this season is to equip her sweaters with loops so that they can he slung over the shoulders like bandbags nr over the back like knapsacks. With a couple of scarves and sweaters as well as handbags banging from them, the mannequins looked like walking clothes trees. But they had their bands free. Sweaters as well as blouses had slits under the arms sn you could stick your hands through them, leaving the sleeves to swing free. Presumably for comfort in a stuffy ronn. Not a bad idea for the next Rykiel show.

The basic Rykiel look for spring involves a tunic-length oullover, plus knee pants or ankle-length pants. In either length, there's a bit of elastic at the back of the leg. No one could figure what for.

Concentrating on Pants

Sometimes the mannequins unfolded a sweater that had been ingeninusly rolled into one of its own sleeves and bung from a shoulder. Quite a neat parlor trick, that nne.

Countering the prevailing trend, Rykiel showed relatively few skirts, concentrating on pants. But those she did show were full. It will be easy to wear her skirts, too.

The knitted bellybands she introduced last season have been moved up to the waist, where they control the fullness of gauze dresses and somehow seem more comfortable. Similar knitted bands appear also at Dorothée Bis, where they control every-thing. They give a jaunty 1920's look to short, full dresses when they circle the bips. They move up to become bras with long skirts. They're used in pairs to supply color contrast. Narrower knitted circlets become headbands, armbands or wristlets.

Metallic knitted bands were for evening, those in bright colors for day. The finale was dozens of knitted bands over the bust, with raffia skirts attached to them, swinging over pantyhose and nothing in important Paris collections should be dismissed as a joke. It all has a habit of turning up oo people before the season's over. So do not dismiss the mini sweater

fractioo looger. And do not dismiss the squashy handbags which, like the knit bands, supply color contrast, and are worn two at a time. They're not carried in the hand, of course. They have long straps so they can be slung over the shoulders, worn as a backpack or in front like a kaogaron pouch.

It's obvious that all the same trends surfacing at the same time at the influential houses bere are not a coincidence. There must be pre-season pow-wows wheo everybody gets together and says "let there be miniskirts" or "let there be clothes racks." And then everyone goes to one another's collectinns to see bow well they carried nut the assignment. Paris takes its fashion seriously and doesn't leave anything to

> Dorothee Bis used two handbags with a sweater that can also be worn

Furs That Are Big—Not Just in Price

By ANGELA TAYLOR

The timing was perfect. Just as the weather got good and nippy this week, Bonwit Teller invited 200 of its customers to view a lavish fur collection from Grosvenor, a Canadían house based in

For sheer numbers (65) and extravagance of pelts, it was the most overwhelming collection shown in these parts for a long time. Grosvenor believes in the sort of furs movie stars are expected to wear at Hollywood premieres. Bigness is the theme-longhaired furs in pale or splashy colors worked with big collars, hoods, big sleeves and a lnt of width everywhere.

. In a way, it was a much of a muchness. After being dazzled by a parade of lynxes, foxes in all their variations, feathery badgers and pale coyote, the sables at the end of the display were an anticlimax.

Preben Bast, Bonwit's fur buyer, said the collection shown represented aboot $500,000 in furs, but was only part of the inventory in the store vauits.

"We have at least $1 million in furs," he said. The most expensive fur shown was one made of the bellies (the palest and softest parts) of Alaska lynx. The tag reads $35,000.

Miles Is First Grandmaster In Britain in Over a Century

By ROBERT BYRNE

Shortly before defecting from the Soviet Union and asking asylum in the Netherlands, Viktor Korchnoi tied for first place with Anthony Miles of England in the I.B.M. international tournament in Amsterdam, Both players achieved 91/2-51/2 scores io the 16-man round-robin.

Miles thus became Britain's first grandmaster since the days of Joseph Henry Blackburne, over a century ago. Miles and Korchnoi were at or oear the

In the early rounds, they alternated first place, and round eight saw them tied for the lead. However, Miles's setback by Gyula Sax, the Hungarian grandmaster, in the ninth round en-abled Korchnoi to keep first place to himself through the 14th round. The tie came about in the final round when Korchnoi was held to a draw by Boris-lav Ivkov, a Yugoslav grandmaster, while Miles defeated Hans Ree of the Netherlands.

He makes you understand-he really does the difference between "fixed" and "floating" international rates of currency exchange. He even adds an occasional touch of color to economics, telling about an economic prognosticator, for instance, who bases his predictions on the rate of business turnover in a hotel of ill-repute he can watch from his office window.

Still, concerning what ought to be done about the economy now, Mr. Malabre concludes that how you stimulate or dampen the economy—and which you do—all depends on whether you are a Keynesian or a Friedmanite, a familiar blind alley to readers of Leonard Silk, So as far as choosing between Mr. Ford and Mr. Carter on the question of the economy. # The 'Big Government' Issue

President Ford and Governor Carter have both campaigned against "big Government," against what they perceive as an overgrown, uncoordinated, unresponsive and sometimes impenetrable Federal bureaucracy.

There is a double irony here. Mr. Carter is the candidate of the Democratic Party, which in its previous periods of power was responsible for most of the expansion of Government programs which he now criticizes. Mr. Ford has been President for two years and his party has been in power for eight; yet he campaigns as if the issue had little to do with the executive branch and as if the G.O.P. had no responsibility for the increased budgets and increased bureaucracy since 1969.

Beneath the apparent ironles, bowever, there is a real issue between the two candidates and therefore a genuine choice for the voters.

Mr. Carter believes in activist government. Where there is a problem in health care or urban blight or unemployment, he wants government to take positive steps to help end it. The new note that the Democratic candidate strikes is that he realizes that since the 1960's there has been a considerable loss of public confidence in the capacity of government to deliver services and administer complex programs. As a result, Mr. Carter wants Federal Government reorganized and made leaner, more efficient and more responsive.

In contrast, President Ford is philosophically committed to a smaller role for government. In his time in office, he has not strongly pushed to reorganize the Federal bureaucracy or provided it with vigorous, detailed, attentive leadership: Instead, his emphasis has been on block grants, on revenue sharing, and on diverting programs from the Federal to the state and local level.

One difficulty with the Ford approach is that local and state units of government vary widely in their capacity and willingness to administer various programs. Another difficulty is that if the Federal Government pays for all or most of a program, it inevitably has guidelines to make certain the money is used for the intended purpose. When there is duplication or conflict among Federal agencies, this is bound to be reflected at the level below.

In reality, the Federal Government is unlikely to divest itself of major responsibilities. Even under the Nixon and Ford Administrations, the trend has been the other way.

If the nation is to overcome the problems of waste, delay, ineffective programs and incompetent administration summed up in the "big Government" issue, there is no escaping the need for active and firm leadership of the bureaucracy at the Federal level.

On his easy-going, standpat record of the last two years, President Ford gives little hope that he will provide that kind of leadership in the future. Governor Carter in the admittedly much smaller and simpler setting of the Georgia state government showed that he has the will to reorganize, the keen eye for detail and the zest for combat that strong executive leadership requires.

Another dimension of a President's capacity for executive leadership is his ability to recruit able men and women to serve in his Administration,

At the Cabinet level, Mr. Ford has made some good appointments and some disappointing ones. But the quality declines considerably in the White House staff, in the regulatory agencies and in the second and third levels of Government. On the whole, it has been a tired and undistinguished Administration and one likely to become more tired and passive if confirmed in office for what would be a lame-duck term.

Governor Carter, who led an innovative and scandalfree administration in Georgia, is much more likely to provide fresh, inspiring leadership in the next four years.

Absentee Victims

Reports are trickling back from Europe that New York voters overseas are outraged at the possibility of losing their votes because of the late arrival of their absentee ballots. Since they are in no way responsible for the mechanics of the election, their indignation is well founded.

The blame does not seem to lie with the State Board of Elections, bowever, or with the county boards either. It seems, rather, to lie with a Legislature that did not foresee the problem when it pushed ahead New York State's primary date from June to September. That move, two years ago, was purely political; the Republican majority hoped that during a long hot summer the Democrats would have greater opportunity than usual to tear themselves to pieces and the Republican Governor, Malcolm Wilson, would then more likely be returned to office. This year, since the Presidential primary had to be moved back in order to be in time for the party convention, two primaries were held-a costly and in every way foolisb procedure.

Not the least of its awkward consequences was that the certification of primary results, for offices other than President, could not be made until Oct. 8. Only after that could ballots be mailed out to absentee voters.

The next session of the Legislature should review its folly on this score, return the single primary and set it at an early enough date on the calendar to restore full assurance of the vote to those Americans who expect to find themselves far from bome on Election Day.

Tudicial Choices: Manhattan and the Bronx

dates are running for 34 places on the bench. Two new Surrogates, 9 Supreme Court judgeships and 23 Civil Court judgeships are on the ballot.

Ideally, they should not be. Judges should be appointed by the Governor or Mayor, after careful screening by independent, nonpartisan panels made up of representatives of the bar and the community. This is the method that has proved to be the least political and has worked best in the effort to elevate the caliber of men and women on the bench.

Instead, the New York voter is confronted with a laundry list of largely unfamiliar names. It is unsound to attempt to assess individuals for judicial office by their abilty as campaigners, the abundance of their campaign leaflets or commercials, or endorsements unrelated to their potential as jurists. At a time in their careers when these lawyers or judges are supposed to shed political affiliations, they are running with party labels, and, perhaps, party obligations if elected.

Sooner or later, the Albany Legislature will have to change the system from elective to appointive judges as part of court reform—and the sooner the better.

The choices by The Times are based upon reports from various judicial selection panels (including the fact that some candidates refused to be screened by their peers), recommendations of the Citizens Union and the bar associations, study of the records of incumbents in public posts, and independent inquiry.

Today's recommendations cover Manhattan and the Bronx. Our judicial endorsements tomorrow will cover Brooklyn, Queens and Staten Island.

Manhattan—Surrogate's Court

This important but neglected court, which handles the estates and affairs of decedents and their families. urgently requires changes to lower the costs of administration and remove political patronage. One means of doing so is to create an Office of Public Guardian.

Three candidates are on the ballot: Samuel A. Spiegel (Dem.-Lib.), a Supreme Court justice for ten years; Shirley Wohl Kram (Rep.), a Family Court judge since 1971: Andrew J. McCauley (Cons.), an attorney, Because of his excellent performance as a Supreme Court justice and his administrative and legislative experience, we endorse Justice Spiegel.

Manhattan, the Bronx-Supreme Court

In the 1st Judicial District (Manhattan and the Bronx), 12 candidates are running for 7 places on the Supreme Court: Margaret Mary J. Mangan (Dem.-Rep.-Cons.-Lib.), Supreme Court justice since 1963; Francis T. Murphy Jr. (Dem.-Rep.-Cons.-Lib.), Supreme Court justice since 1963; Richard W. Wallach (Dem.-Lib.), Civil Court judge since 1970; Israel Rubin (Dem.-Rep.-Cons.), Civil Court judge since 1973; Ernst H. Stern (Lib.), City Councilman since 1974.

We endorse the first seven jurists on the above list for re-election or election: Judges Mangan, Murphy, Wallach, Rubin, Rosenberger, Carro, Alexander.

Manhattan—Civil Court

Countywide, three candidates are running for one place: Betty Weinberg Ellerin (Dem.-Lib.), law secretary in the Supreme Court for 12 years; Richard E. Coven (Rep.), attorney and housing authority; Ethel Davidson (Cons.), former Assistant U.S. Attorney. We prefer Betty Weinberg Ellerin.

In the 1st District, Stanley L. Sklar (Dem.-Lib.), an experienced attorney, is opposed by John Picariello (Rep.), chief adoption clerk of the Surrogate Court. We endorse Stanley L. Sklar.

In the 3rd District, Beverly S. Cohen (Dem.), law assistant in the Civil Court since 1968, is running against Alfred Adler (Rep.), an attorney. Beverly S. Cohen is preferred.

In the 4th District, Margaret Taylor (Dem.), who teaches at New York University law school, is opposed by Florence R. Zimmerman (Rep.-Cons.), an attorney, and Jack Turret (Lib.), head of the law division in the Surrogate Court. We strongly prefer Margaret Taylor. In the 6th District, Guy Gilbert Ribaudo, a Civil Court judge, has four-party endorsement. In the 7th District, Herman Cahn (Dem.-Lib.), an attorney, is running against Harry R. Pollak (Rep.), also a private practitioner. Herman Cahn is preferred. In the 9th District, Charles S. Whitman Jr., Civil Court judge, is running without opposition.

In the 10th District, Thomas V. Sinclair Jr. (Dem.). Housing Court hearing officer, is opposed by Helen Gordon Bailey (Rep.), an attorney. Thomas V. Sinclair Jr. is endorsed.

The Bronx-Civil Court

Countywide, there are three vacancies and 9 candidates: Burton G. Hecht (Dem.-Lib.), Assemblyman since 1963; Martin B. Klein (Dem.), a trial attorney; Robert A. Purcigliotti (Rep.), State Labor Relations Board commissioner, Harold Silverman (Dem.-Lib.), criminal trial specialist; Richard W. Baldwin (Rep.-Cons.), an attorney; Thomas Ferrandina (Rep.), former Assemblyman; Stanley J. Hughes (Cons.), a Civil Court practitioner, William J. Lee Jr. (Cons.), Assistant State Attorney General; Alexander E. Scheer (Lib.), Assistant District Attorney since

We prefer the first three: Burton G. Hecht, Martin B. Klein and Robert A. Purcigliotti.

In the 1st District, Joseph A. Cerbone (Dem.), former Assistant District Attorney, is opposed by Joseph DiCarlo (Rep.-Cons.-Lib.), former Family Court judge passed over for reappointment. We endorse Joseph A. Cerbone.

Letters to the Editor

South Africa: A Case for the Homelands Of War and F

To the Editor:

Franklin Williams' Oct. 14 letter about South Africa needs correction. And as a non-racist who has just returned from three weeks in South Africa (my second visit), I would like to make that correction and present additional pertinent information.

Whites constitute one-sixth of the total population, not one-tenth as Mr. Williams states, More important biologically and politically (I might coin the word "biopolitical") is the fact that blacks are reproducing at the rate of 414 to I white, so Mr. Williams could be correct several years hence.

The slighting reference Mr. Williams makes to the significance of the "homelands" bothers me. Do the black people of South Africa not deserve homelands of their own, with their own cultures? Is it not fair for them to have an opportunity to further develop their own cultures and economy within the sphere of their own native languages? Inasmuch as Mr. Williams has cited the Transkei, first of the tribal homelands, let us look at the facts before drawing conclusions.

The land area of the Transkei is over 17,000 square miles, with a beautiful Indian Ocean coastline of more than 250 miles. (Population density: 180 people per square mile.) This is 20 percent larger than the combined area of Connecticut, Massachusetts and Rhode Island (14,480 square miles), where the population density averages 678 per square mile. Moreover, the Transkel is larger than the Netherlands with its 870 people per square mile, or Belgium with 850 people a square mile, or Switzerland with 400 people a square mile, or Denmark with some 300 people a square mile. It is important for the Transkei to have the lower population density that it does because the vast majority of its three million people are Xhosa; theirs is essentially a tribal pastoral culture. The Khosa language became the official language as the new con-stitution took effect today. Of the 10,600 officials of the new country, only 4 percent will be white. These ere to be phased out as soon as Transkeians can be trained to take over their positions. South Africa has taken nine years to prepare the Transkei for independence and has spent over $700 million to accomplish it; this is more than the U.N. has spent altogether in helping the development of something over fifty third-world countries.

While other enlightening facts could be presented, it might be more important here to raise the question whether any of Africa's numerous black countries have offered to set up self-governing homelands for their white populations and pay the bill for doing it.

The Widows

To the Editor: To students of Soviet history the recent events in China must have a depressingly familiar ring. Like the old Bolsheviks who fell victim to Stalin's purges during the 1930's, their Chinese counterparts are accused of plotting to assassinate prominent party leaders and of having links with a foreign government.

Unlike their "ideological forerunner," the old "Trotskyite-Zinovlevite terrorist center," the connections of the "anti-party plot group" are al-legedly with "Soviet social imperialism" rather than with the fascist powers of old.

One significant difference worthy of note is that even Stalin stopped short of attempting to incriminate Lenin's widow, Krupskaya, despite her history of oppositionist activities against him. The present Chinese leadership seems ill-disposed to treat Chiang Ching,

Archbishop Trifa's Past

To the Editor.

Dr. William P. Thompson, president of the National Council of Churches, bas expressed the hope that Jewish leaders would agree that the council's action in the Archbishop Trifa effair was the only responsible one that could be taken. It is my hope that both Christians and Jews will reject that position.

The right of every accused person. to a fair trial is a moral issue. The shadow hanging over the whole National Council of Churches as a result of the allegations that one of its governing-board members is an unrepentant Nazi war criminal is also a profoundly moral issue.

It is, in my judgment, not a responsible act on the part of the National Council of Churches to sit back and say that we must await the judgment of a Federal court - possibly years from now. On numerous occasions, the National Council of Churches has gathered and evaluated evidence dealing with violations of human rights and torture. Why is that suddenly such an impossible thing to do when a member of our own ecclesiastical community is involved?

source-our people. Texans, fiercely cious will to protect an environment that encourages initiative and selfreliance, and policies that safeguard individual freedom and independence.

For this reason, I think that Texans will choose their President on a careful assessment of the issues. There are vital differences between the candidates-differences that will greatly affect the future of the state and the country. Texans, and the nation, would be well-served to elect President Ford.

The President has fourneved to Texas several times, and, as some of my friends say, "Ford talks like a Texan." They like what he says, they agree with him. But, more important, they know he talks straight—that he does not have one story for Texas and a slightly different version for New Jersey. President Ford is consistent, specific, and honest with the people.

America is the world's food store. Mr. Ford is committed to America's agricultural growth. He continues to seek development of additional foreign markets for the farmer, without restraint or embargo, for the sale of our abundant products.

His commitment was demonstrated In part by his Vice-Presidential choice. Bob Dole, who is from a great agricultural state and has devoted his Congressional career to working for the farmer and rancher. His strong, influential voice in the Ford Administration will guarantee a farm policy free from dictation by labor bosses.

As a major producer and consumer of energy. Texas looks with keen interest to energy policies set in

In his State of the Union message at the outset of the 94th Congress, Mr. Ford outlined the most comprebensive energy program ever proposed by a President. He fulfilled his responsibility by offering a wide range of solutions. Congress, however, ignored hia recommendations, refusing to address the realities of our continuing energy crisis.

Texas contains major industrial, financial and population centers. Recent studies indicate that it has the most favorable business climate among the fifty states.

We have benefited from our rightto-work laws-those that allow individuals to choose whether they wish is reflected in our most important re- Washington. Mr. Ford recognizes that to join a union. Mr. Ford strongly supports right-to-work; Jimmy Carter would "gladly" see it repealed. Texans consider right-to-work a fundamental civil right, which has undoubtedly served to keep our unemployment rates among the nation's lowest.

> When Mr. Ford took office, our natioo's economy was at a low ebb, but we have been on the road to orderly, substantial recovery. Mr. Ford faced a hostile, liberal Congress and courageously vetoed faulty legislation, thus holding back inflation and saving the taxpayers billions.

Had it not been for his leadership in standing firm against the spendthrift Coogress, we would have been plunged into a mire of foolish Federal programs and into another round of spiraling inflation. National unemployment remains excessive, but only sound economic expansion in the private sector can provide a continued reduction in that rate—and insure that it remains at a low level once reached.

Today we are at peace. In moulding foreign policy, Mr. Ford has charted a steady course toward peaceful negotiations backed by strength and datermination. He insures a military posture second to none. He recognizes that a strong military capability deters the threat of aggression. His defensebudget requests have consistently trimmed fat while maintaining military superiority.

I believe that Texans, like all Americans, seek strong, steady, experienced leadership. I know we can count on that kind of leadership from President

What's the Difference?

By Anthony Lewis

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27-The cynicism that so often accompanies American elections is worse than usual this year. "It won't make any difference who wins": "I refuse to vote for either of them"-we bave all heard the talk.

There are reasons for disillusionment with politics. Not long ago Americans voted for a peace candidate and got war, for a law-and-order candidate and got criminality. Some problems seem so intractable that people doubt any President's ability to change things. Neither candidate in this election has uplifted us.

But the clucking and deploring are really overdone. Americans bave ample reason to celebrate their system in 1976: We came through a terrible war and a political conspiracy with institutions intact, indeed triumphaot. And if this campaign seems disappointing, think back to 1972, or 1968, or 1964. For a cootinental nation to choose a single magistrate is always a difficult business, and not necessarily uplifting.

The notion that there is nothing to choose between Gerald Ford and Jimmy Carter is particularly foolish. It is true that neither is an extremist or a conspirator: Richard Nixon is not running. But it does not follow that the two men, or their parties, are alike. They differ in policy and in instinct oo issues of fundamental concern to voters

Economy. The Ford policy, shaped by Secretary of the Treasury Sunon, has made inflation and Federal spending the main targets-from Mr. Ford's early demand for a tax increase and his WIN (whip inflation now) program. Unemployment has sharply increased. Mr. Carter would make jobs his first priority. He would find tax reform harder than be has suggested, and less productive of new revenue. but he plainly offers a much greater chance to remove some of the more grotesque injustices and loopholes from the tax code.

Environment. As in his economic approach. Mr. Ford has been oriented to the business community's desires. A striking example was the long attempt to weaken or block the toxic substances bill, controlling the introduction of deadly chemicals into our surroundings, which the President finally signed under election pressure. Similarly, he cut spending on conservation and parks but proposed new parks in the campaign. Mr. Carter was universally rated strong and iodependent on environmental issues as goveroor of Georgia; he would be more likely to resist efforts to weaken protections.

Energy. In the Ford years American -with contempt.

dependence on Arab oil has sharply increased. The Administration has dooe little for conservation, instead pushed for quick development of new domestic energy sources such as offshore oil and nuclear power. Mr. Carter would put greater emphasis on conservation and would be especially cautious on nuclear development.

Health, A critical fact of contemporary American life is the zooming cost of medical care, spurred in good part hy Federal programs that enrich a few but do not assure care for the many. Mr. Ford first said be was for a national insurance plan, then dropped the subject. The obstacles to such a plan in this large country should not be underestimated, but Mr. Carter's strong support would be much more likely to get action in Congress. Amnesty. If Mr. Carter is elected, all Vietnam draft resisters will be pardoned at the end of January, 1977, and allowed to come home. If Mr.

Ford wins, they will remain fugitives. ... :

In foreign affairs, the two men are broadly in agreement on the established American policies of alliance and détente. But there are differences. Arms, Mr. Carter would take a more skeptical look at proposed new weapons systems such as the B-1 bomber, which Mr. Ford in California said it would be "an economic tragedy" to abaodon. Mr. Carter has also called for limits on the sales of American arms abroad, which have mushroomed during the Nixon-Ford Administrations. Military Adventures, Mr. Ford has the compelling argument that the country is at peace. On the other hand, only Congress kept him from feeding a last-minute $1 billion into the Vietnam War and iovolving the United States in Angola's civil war, and and he said mysteriously in the last debate that Gen. George Brown's leadership qualities might be oeeded for "operations" in "southern Africa." Mr. Carter is untested but bas said: "I would never go to war in another country unless our own security were threatened."

Tyranny. The United States bas become increasingly identified with totalitarian regimes-in the colonels' Greece, Chile, South Korea and elsewhere. Mr. Ford said he saw nothing wrong with U.S. actions in Chile, and he has fought Congressional efforts to condition aid on an end to torture of political prisoners. How to deal with tyrannies is not an easy problem, but from his early primary days Mr. Carter has called for America to voice its ideals abroad and stand for human rights.

The result of this election will make real differences: to human beings, bere and abroad. To pretend that there is no difference is to treat the American system—to treat ourselves

The Federal aid program offered this kind of opportunity, but too much money has gone for technological gimmicks and for weapons that were either unusable or of no value in reducing crime, or for showy, shortterm programs.

For example, on the eve of the 1972 election campaign, the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration announced a crash program to pour money into eight "high-impact" cities with the goal of reducing crime by 5 percent in two years and 20 percent in five years. The program was abandoned after three years, and when asked where the figures came from, Martin Danziger, the official who planned the programs, said: "I just made them up. Lyndon B. Johnson's Crime Commission It sounded good."

Meanwhile, the courts' inability to process the mass of cases brought to them has forced prosecutors and judges to rely on a system of plea-bargaining by which defendants trade their right to a trial for what is often a ridiculously low sentence.

What is needed is more judges, prosecutors and defense lawyers; but only 6 percent of all Federal aid bas beeo speot on the clogged criminal courts. Nonetheless, President Ford, on the mistaken assumption that prosecutors and judges have gotten soft, has proposed mandatory minimum-sentence laws that would increase the number of cases going to trial and result in even longer delays between arrest and trial.

A disproportionate number of crimes are committed by young, black males, a group that the Urban League estimates has an unemployment rate of mora than 50 percent. Whatever one's view is on the acceptable rate of unemployment generally, it is selfdestructive for a society not to offer alternatives to theft as a means of support

Perhaps most damaging of all has been the failure of the National Institute of Law Enforcement and Criminal Justice to develop data and knowledge that would guide future efforts to reduce crime. The Institute was created by Congress in 1968; eight years have been loog enough to undertake intensive research to identify correctional programs that would make persons convicted of crime less likely to repeat. Yet the Institute has done little to develop statistical data on the subject. It is as if the National Cancer Institute failed to seek data on recurrence of malignancy in those who bad been treated. Similarly, the Institute has not given the police much help in evaluating different patrol or investi-

Growth is still not a four-letter word

Remember all those doomsday predictions a few years back? The world is running out of resources and about to stagnate from pollution, warned a thick report of the Club of Rome. Only a slowdown in economic growth, said this international assemblage of scholars, can head off disaster.

In February 1972, in a message called Growth is not a four-letter word, Mobil took sharp issue with such gloomy prophecies and no-win solutions. We believed then, and repeated in subsequent messages, that orderly economic growth offers the best path to a higher standard of living for the world's underprivileged. We stated that man has the human resources and the technology to shape his own destiny, making the world's natural resources stretch to his needs.

The Club of Rome eventually backtracked. And now, it develops, a $500,000 United Nations study further. justifies our optimism.

The three-year analysis by an international team of economists headed by Nobel Prize winner Wassily Leontief says the world is fully capable of supporting a growing population at higher living standards without environmental damage.

By the year 2,000, the report predicts, man can reduce by 50 percent the gap between the "have" and the "have-not" nations. The study sees great gains possible through agricultural growth, development of new mineral resources, and higher productivity.

It puts a realistic, albeit expensive. price tag on effective pollution control. But says it's feasible if man is willing to pay the cost.

It sees a need to allocate a greater share of gross national product to capital formation.

It says adequate natural resources are available to sustain strong economic growth. The roadblocks, it says, are "...political, social and institutional in character rather than physical."

Sound familiar? We hope so, because we've been trying to say it all along, in a variety of ways.

The main hope of man, we repeat, is not to stifle growth but to increase it.

The main retardant to growth is not lack of resources, but lack of sound political policies.

Which brings us to our own business. America still does not have a comprehensive national energy policy. One that encourages industry to find and produce new energy supplies even as it stimulates ways to save energy and reduce energy waste.

Only in this way will the pie be big enough to give everyone a satisfying

BECAUST AT BEAUTIONS MANNED BY WOMEN.

No matter if she's married, single or somewhere in-between, the working woman has become her own woman. So she has a right to her own magazine: Working Woman Magazine.

As a glance around our first issue's cover will tell you, our magazine devotes itself to every part of a working woman's life.

TODAY WOMEN HAVE DEVELOPED A NEW SEI OF CURVES.

How good a job has the American working woman done for herself? The grophs tell just part of the story. Over 50% of all women in the United States are gainfully employed—38.8 million women strong. What's more a woman today makes more money than ever before. And women hold some of the most important jabs in all the important fields.

AFTER SHE MAKES IT, SHE SPENDS IT.

The working woman need ask nobody's permission to buy something. Not her husband's. Not her boyfriend's. Not her daddy's. She earns the maney. And she decides how to spend it.

WE'RE MARRIED TO THE WORKING WOMAN.

Most magazines try to be a lot of things to everybody. And perhaps end up meaning little to anybody. We, on the other hand straddle no fences.

Treatment of Tree Diseases Rises, and So Do Fees

By MICHAEL KNIGHT

Special to The New York Times WESTPORT, Coon. - "Business is branching out all over," Bob Rogers shouted, and he may have winced as he said it, but he was too far up a tree for anyone to tell, "Isn't that just an awful pun?" he added.

Mr. Rogers, who was dangling from a rope in the topmost braoches of a 70-foot red oak, is an arhorist, which is what people who practice arboriculture like to be called these days. They used to be called tree surgeons, but that was back in the old days.

Whatever they call it, the treatment Is not inexpensive. The list of arboreal ailments reads like a hypochondriac's secret garden of delights-things like eodangered crotches, overtopped crowns, girdling roots and the nation's big tree threat, heart rot.

But despite the cost, the ranks of arborists are growing rapidly, and their business, once limited to the wealthy, has spread to the merely prosperous.

with a modest suburban plot or a little weekend retreat in the country are worrying about their trees, calling io specialists for consultations and investing in preventive medicine and experimental treatments.

"I get calls all the time from people who are emotionally attached to their trees, the way some people care about their cars or their pets," said Dr. George R. Stephens, the State Forester.

"Trees have become very important to a large number of ordinary people who have to worry about reeding and clothing their families, just like most of us. I imagine they put those things first, though, most of the time.

"Look, it's a little like teeth, Trees can take care of themselves and teeth can take care of themselves, but what you get is lousy trees and lousy teeth." Dr. Stephens runs the Concecticut

Tree Protection Examining Board, which regulates and investigates the state's 470 licensed arborists, out of a desk drawer at his office at the Connecticut Agricultural Experiment Station in New Haveo. More than 40 percent flunk the rigorous licensing examination on their first try.

Those who do get their licenses are in demand because no one wants their trees to look uotended any more than they want their teeth in crooked disarray. That's why Raymood Hagel, a New York publishing executive, has spent close to $2,000 this year taking care

Cosmetic Pruning for Looks

"The trees give my place character and distinction," he said in explaining the expenditures, which he figured was a bit more than most people pay. "It's one of the pleasurable coosequences of growing older," Mr. Hagel said, "and it's something to mark it by. I have an emotional attachment to my trees, unquestionably."

Mr. Rogers, who earned a bachelor's degree in plant sciences and then founded his Coastal Tree Experts Inc. three years ago rather than join the family concern. Trendex, the market research company, charges "a bit above the average rate." That means some-where between $12 and $15 a maohour, which with a standard three-man crew means that tree owners can pay being a competitive trade secret.

The red oak here, by the way, needed just a bit of cosmetic pruning, to give it that classic oak-tree shape, and then a bit of black tree-wound paint, which does a lot more for the homeowner's esthetic pride than it does for the tree, according to recent research by the United States Forest Service.

"It just looks nice-people see a big wound and they think the tree is going to bleed to death, like a person," Mr. Rogers said. "Doesn't do a thing."

Some of the trees around the red oak on a suburban street bere were in sorry shape, Mr. Rogers said, with the look of an auto mechanic who has been asked to investigate a funny noise in an engine. They would need a lot of pruning, bracing, cabling, spraying, feeding, prophylactic surgery and some good old-fashioned "take-downs," he

"The place had been let go, you know, and the guy called me and asked me to look around," he recalled, "The first thing was scale on the red pines I had to cut them down to protect the Scotch pines nearby, or they all would have died. Then there was borer in the dogwood trees—you go at it with a chisel and a mallet, which is what we in the business call tree surgery. And then I told him: 'Listen, there's a lot of things that need doing. I'd better get in here a few times a month and: get the critical stuff dooe before it gets out of hand.'

"We pretty-much gauge the amount of work that needs doing by the customer's hudget-there's always something that needs doing, and even if everything is in good shape, well, theo it's time to feed the trees. The whole ball game is preventive medicine. When it comes to shade trees, there aren't many cures except the final cure, which is this," he sald, nudging a chain

A Guide to Ailing Oaks and Ill Elms

While the diagnosis and treat-ment of tree diseases is a complicated matter best left to trained professionals, th ereare some basic general warning signs that any concerned homeowner can look for io shade trees.

Most easily noticed at this time of year is premature coloration, which is the tendeocy of a tree to take on its autumn colors weeks before neighboring trees of the same species. The condition can indicate damage to the root system by construction, road salt, malnutrition, insects or root rot. Also indicative of the same possible maladies is die-back, the pro-gressive death of the tree from the top branches down. Wetness Can Indicate Problem Further signs of the same condi-tions—most of which are treatable if caught in time—are leaves that lack a robust green, a crown that seems thin and sickly, and leaves that curl and are missbapen. Fungus conks, or mushroom-like tamors that grow on the trunks of trees, are barmless, but they

Indicate that the tree has a serious, and perhaps fatal, problem. Persistent wetness around the trunk or a liquid discharge from the trunk is a sign of a bleeding canker, a bacterial infection, or of poor drainage. Rainwater trapped in pockets under the bark. can create ideal habitats for fungus infections.

At the base of the trunk, where the trunk meets the root system, small piles of sawdust and peeling hark are indications of insect in-

in evergreens, the color of the needles is important. They should dark green rather than vellowish or brownish, except in the fall, when the oldest needles—those closest to the trunk—normally turn brown and fall off. This is particularly noticeable in white

The trunks of dogwood trees can be inspected for small, pellet-sized holes that indicate the presence of dogwood horer. This is easily treatable, but invariably fatal if left untended.

Jimmy Carter told a large and generally enthusiestic audience in Manhattan's garment district that New York City has a great life and a great future. Ha pledged he would "do everything I can for you when I'm elected." He said Election Day was a chance to affirm the principle that residents of the nation's large cities are Americans and should never be "beneath the concern of the President." [1:3.]

President Ford sought to draw a distinction between his Administration and that of President Nixon in campaign appearances in Chicago, New Jersey and Pennsylvania. Stressing peraonal integrity in his Administration, Mr. Ford said that, on assuming office, he had led "an incredible comeback from the 'long national nightmare' of Watergate: [1:5.]

Democratic leaders in California feel Carter will lose the state, despite polls ahowing the alection a dead heat there. But recent Ford gains in the nation's st state are not reflected in most other big states, and, as a result, Cali-fornia mey not prove to be the bell-wether it has been in the past. Ford has cut Carter's once-enormous lead in many other states, but not enough so far to win the election. [1:4.]

The Central States Pension Fund of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters lent money to associates of organized crime figures as recently as 1975, despite a new Federal law, Government controls and an impression from union officials that such practices have stopped. Various transactions, including one to a man who has been linked to Meyer Lansky, financial expert of organized crime, are under investigation by the Departments of Labor and Justice. A reputed Lansky associate stands to collect millions in Las Vegas from Caesar's Palace. [1:1-2.]

A move to fill empty beds with Medi-caid patients, thus bringing in addi-tional millions from Federal and state funds, is under way in New York City's municipal hospitals. Despite medical and fiscal pressure against inpatient care because of soaring costs, the Health and Hospitals Corporation is trying to place them while state inspectors are checking to see if outpatient care would do. [1:1.]

New York State ballots will carry the name of Daniel P. Moynihan, the Demo-cratic candidate for the United States Senate, no the line of the Liberal Party as well, but the name of Eugene J. McCarthy, independent candidate for President, will not appear. Both issues were decided by the state's highest court, the Court of Appeals. [1:6.]

A major burglary attempt at Kennedy International Airport was foiled, the police said, when three men were arrested. The suspects allegedly hoped to use esoteric electronic equipment to penetrate a Swissair vault. [45:1-2.]

Business/Finance

General Motors set a record in thirdquarter earnings with a record net in-come of $397 million, or $1.37 a share, on sales for the quarter of 1.79 million cars for $10.16 hillion. Corporation officials predicted a sustainable upward course for the economy, depending on the outcome of contract talks with the United Automobile Warkers. [61:6.]

Another car price increase is unwarranted, according to the Federal Gov-eroment's Council on Wage and Price Stability. It found that auto manufacturing costs had risen less than some companies have announced and that the 7.7 percent cost increase projected by the companies for 1977 models appeared to be on the high side. [61:4-5.]

Stock prices continued their brisk advance. Dow industrials gained 7.98 points to close at the day's high of 956.12. [61:5.] Bond prices moved up in both the corporate and Government sectors. [62:5.] Soybean prices swung widely but gained 20 cants a bushel at the close with a November price of $6.73. [72:4-6.]

PETER V. RITNER, 49, DEAD AFTER PLUNGE

Writer and Former Editor, Known for a Sharp Intellect, Arranged Purchase of Speer's Memoirs

By GEORGE GOODMAN Jr.

Peter V. Ritner, a writer and former editor widely respected for his intellectual gifts, died yesterday in a plunge from a window of his eighth-floor apartment at 340 Riverside Drive. He was 49 years old. The police said that his death was an apparent suicide and that he had previously attempted to take his life.

Described by a frieod as a jovial "bear of a man," Mr. Ritner achieved recognition in the publishing world in 1969, wheo he negotiated the purchase of Albert Speer's memoirs of life in Nazi Germany.

Mr. Ritner negotiated the transaction for the 800-page book as Macmillan's editor-to-chief for a sum that reportedly otaled $250,000. He worked at Macmillan for nearly 10 years, handling works by major anthors in many areas, including natural history, politics, science and athletics. Colleagues said his knowledge was expert in all

Walt W. Rostow, Theodore C. Soren-sen, C. L. Sulzberger, Rocald Clark, Jim Bouton and Jacques Cousteau were among Mr. Ritner's first attempt at fiction, entitled and Caract for the authors with whom he worked.

'Intellectual Capacities'

His reputation as a man of immense and diverse abilities dates from his col-lege days, when, after distinguishing himself as a student in mathematics at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and Harvard University, he went to Co-lumbia University's College of Physician and Surgeons, where he was admitted without the customary interview.

"It was done on the strength of his previous academic record," said Dr. Bernard Schoenberg, an assistant dean at the college who was then Mr. Ritner's class-

"In his first year," Dr. Schoenberg said "he completely memorized The Anatomy of the Human Body' by Henry Gray."He could recite verbatim passages, which classmates later quizzed him about 1 mention it because it illustrates bis intel-lectual capacities and why his name be-came a legend."

New York State Announces a Weekly Lottery Game

By LENA WILLIAMS

The director of New York State's lottery announced yesterday that a new weekly game would begin next month and would operate for five weeks to dis-sales—knowing people get tired of one game and like to have a change."

Mr. Quinn told a news conference at the State Lottery Headquarters at Two World Trade Center that the new game would involve a 50-cent ticket with cash prizes of $20, $3,000, $5,000 and the topdraw that would exceed $500,000, believed to be the largest single lump-sum ever awarded in a state lottery.

Divided Into Two Parts

Each ticket will be divided into two parts, one consisting of a six-digit number and the other with two three-digit numbers, he said.

Ticket-holders with one winning three-digit number will win $25—the odds on that are 125 to 1. Those with two winning three-digit numbers on the same ticket will get $3,000—odds of 83,000 to 1. And

Mr. Quinn elso said thet under the new game the odds did not depend on the oumber tickets sold, that all prize money would be distributed, and that while tickets would be doplicated, there would be duplicated winners if that ticket is drawn. Demerol were resposible and that be looted his wife's estate in order to join his mistress in Denmark.

Dr. Friedgood signed his wife's death certificate on the day of her death, listing of duplicate tickets had been printed for a special denuming.

Mr. Quino said full details on the new lottery, including the starting date and good crowd here around this time of the list of prizes, would be aonounced on Nov. 10. About 66 million tickets will be printed for the new game.

The iostant lottery will end on Nov. 26, but winners can put in claims up to Nov. 26, 1977. To date, 76 million tickets have been sold throughout New York

Milk Linked to Infection

The New York State Health Department said in Albany that locally proc-essed chocolate milk was the probable cause of a bacterial infection that struck 50 schoolchildren in the Oneida County community of Holland Patent earlier this month. About a dozen youngsters underwent unnecessary ap-pendectomies because the infectioo's symptoms mimic those of appendicitis. The infection was subsequently diag-nosed as yersiniosis, a rare and acute intestinal ailment. Commissioner Robert Whalen declined to identify the dairy that had supplied the chocolate milk.

3 Indicted in Loan Fraud

A lawyer, a businessman and a for-mer bank employee were charged with participating in a scheme to obtain more than $35,000 in fraudulent loans from Barclays Bank io New Rochelle, N.Y. The 16-count Federal indictment was filed in Manhattan. The defendants are Jerome F. Healey, a lawyer from Larchmont; Gustavo Passarelli, a busioessman from Port Chester, and William H. Other speakers noted that of the S7 plazas built in the last 1S years in response to incentives provided in the city's sponse to incentives provided in the city's 1961 Zoning Resolution, only a handful offered any amenities—benches, plantings, fountains or sculpture—that might provide a pleasant place for relaxatioo.

The zoning changes under consideration by the commission would encourage better orientation for bight and air, Mandate provision of certain facilities and prevent builders from closing the plazas of, through tricks of design or use of fencing, from the public at large.

Criticism of the proposed rules, which would not apply to plazas already complated, came also from the New York. Society of Architects and the Citizens Housing and Planning Council.

Milton Glass, speaking for the archi-tects' group, said: "Office-building plazas are fine—people who work there don't bave a sensa of 'turf' the way people do about the place they live. In a residen-tial area, you want privacy."

Alan Talbott, head of citizens group, called the detailed rules proposed for plaza design "a bureaucratic nightmare." The Planning Commission, which deferred a decision on the new zoning rules also announced withdrawal of its proposed revisions to the land-use review procedures under the new City Charter. The revisions, which the commission hoped would reduce the burden of work by community boards on zoning and other land-use matters, were instead viewed by many board members as an attempt to restrict powers they assumed only last July 1.

A few of the 62 community boards have already completed actions under the new Charter provisions. Community Boards 5 and 6, for example, have voted to support resumption of helicopter flights from the top of the Pao Am Building.

No Dictatorial Authority

"There's one very, very fundamental difference," Mr. Ford replied. "Under Presidenta Ford, there is not any imperial White House which means there is no pomp, no ceremony, there is no dicta-torial authority."

The sharp criticism of the secretive and imperial tone of the Nixon Admini-stration was deliberate. White House officials said that Mr. Ford had arranged with Mr. Garagiola to raise the subject in the telecast.

The President's political counselors said that Mr. Ford had concluded impling in key states—that it was necessary for him to meet the issue of trust directly. "He wants to get it out of the way," one adviser said.

"If it's on people's minds," Ron Nessen the White House press spokesman, said, referring to the issue of trust, the might as well discuss it."

Scores 'Imperial Presidency'

Mr. Ford did discuss the subject, in one fashion or another, nearly every where he went today. At a news confererce at a Federal Aviation Administratioo test-landing field outside Atlantic City. Mr. Ford said he had criticized the tone with my own personal ideas and with what our Founding Fathers believed."

The President said he had taken pains to dilute the authority of the White House staff and to eodow his Cabinet officers with more responsibility.

At a sparsely attended rally on the Atlantic City boardwalk, Mr. Ford saidafter getting two kisses on the cheek from Dorothy Benham, the reigning Miss America-that he had renewed coofidence in the White House after what he called the "tragic betrayal of trust" two years earlier.

He had been candid and open, the President said, adding: "I promise you. I pledge to you, we're going to keep it that way in the next four years."

Expanding on this theme in another statewide telecast tonight across Pennsylvania, Mr. Ford told Mr. Garagiola that he was not troubled by Mr. Carter's frequent allusions to the "Nixon-Ford Administration" because as the President put it. "I think the average guy in the street knows that on Aug. 9 [1974] there was a distinct break between the previous Administration and my Administra-

After contending that he had earned the public's trust, Mr. Ford proceeded, at Villanova, to make an unabashed appeal for votes from Roman Catholics in the Philadelphia area, suggesting in the course of the appeal that Jimmy Carter, be Democratic Presidential nominee, was less reliable than the President.

Mr. Ford identified with Villanova's traditionally strong track and crosscountry teams, saying he could think of no more apt spot to he in the home stretch of the campaign than at the alma mater greater. I know we many outstanding distance runners.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27-The National Conservative Political Action Committee said today that charges levelled against it and four other conservative groups before the Federal Election Commission were "totally false" and politically motivated.

Terry Dolan, executive director of the committee, said that the complaint machinetry of the commission "should not be used to play games." He said that the National Committee for ao Effective Congress, a liberal organization that filed the charges, had yet to notify his group.

Other groups accused of campaign law violations hy the liberal group were the Committee for the Survival of a Free Congress, the Committee for Responsible Youth Politics, the Employe Rights Campaign Committete and the Public Service Political Action Committee.

Mr. Dolan sai dthat at least two Democratic Secate candidates, Senator Frank E. Moss of Utah, and Representative John Melcher of Montana, had used the charges filed with the election commission the same day they were filed. Their Repuhlican opponents, Orrin Hatch and Stanley C. Burger, are both heing supported financially hy the conservative groups.

The only forms provided, bowever, were those devised for servicemen

McCarthy Link Suggested

The explanation that has been cir-culating for the special failure of New York to provide ballots was that they could not be sent out until courts ruled oo whether the name of Eugene J. Senator Brock has steadfastly refused to disclose any information about his 1974 taxes, although Mr. Sasser has asked him to do so to clear up allegations that he paid no taxes at all that year.

The Brock campaign retaliates by pointing out that Mr. Sasser, a lawyer, has had tax difficulties of his own, having had a tax lien attached to his property briefly in 1974 for late filing of his return. Nevertheless, Mr. Steiger believes that e turned the corner last week when, in a characteristically unusual move, be called a news conference to confess that he bad messed up the first few weeks with a negative, ofteo funny, campaign and was switching to a more positive, sober, issue-oriented one.

In fact, the contest is a clearcut ideoogical one between the 47-year-old Mr. Steiger, a conservative who calls bimself a "fiscal fascist," and the 39-year-old Mr. DeCoocini, a moderate who is riding hard on his prosecutorial hackground.

The pull of the DeConcini name among Democrats was illustrated by an incident last weekend in the cotton-growing community of Casa Grande. One cotton grower shook Mr. DeConcini's hand, saying, "I told your mama we're going to get you 12,000 votes." Another said. I think I met you once when your dad brought one of his boys to a meeting." Mr. Steiger's appeal was best demonstrated at a reception to a suburban community recreation room the other day. The Labor Question Mr. DeConcini has the backing of many labor unions despite his qualified support for so-called right-to-work laws, which prohibit labor agreemeots under which a worker must join a union if he wisbes

Mr. Steiger regularly summons up the image of "big labor" as if George Meany were a nine-foot mooster with a club in his bands when here have terrorise businesses. his hands who has been terrorizing businesses from Flagstaff to Gila Bend. Actu-ally, labor is a midget in Arizona—less than 11 percent of its work force is unionized. Neither candidate uses the pbrase "big husiness."

In deference to Arizonans' concerns. Mr. DeConcini has played up law and order over social issues. He stresses his 92 percent record of convictions on narcotics cases as Pima County Attorney, and the award his office won recently from the National Association of District Attorneys. By MAURICE CARROLL

Special to The New York Times HEMPSTEAD, L.I., Oct. 27-Eighteen years ago, an ebullient 50-year-old candidate named Nelson A. Rockefeller began electioneeriog through New York State oo his way to becoming its Governor.

Today, his ebullience edged by a rueful air of it-might-have-been, Mr. Rockefeller, 68 years old and the nation's ourgoing Vice President, electioneered through the Nassau County suburbs as an advance man for the big rally Sunday for President Ford.

"if I was any more relaxed, I don't think they'd let me come campaigning," he said after a playful speech to some 300 elderly people in Plattdeutsche Park in Franklin Square. He laughed as he stumbled through his text and attributed his fumbles to the dyslexia that afflicts him-a difficulty in reading.

But a college professor once told him, he explained, that even if he bad such a problem and was oot too bright, "if you work harder, you can make it."

Mr. Rockefeller paused and his eyes crinkled almost closed, "Ladies and gentlemeo," he said, "I almost did."

Jocular Note of His Ambition

Throughout his loog tour, he interpolated joking references to his one-time ambi-tion to be President. His relaxed air in telling of his travels past leaf-speckled suburban lawos and through streets that were empty, except for schoolchildren curious at the flashing lights of the police motorcycles, held a hint of polgnance for those who remembered the panoply that used to surround Governor Rockefeller.

He started with a visit to the North Shore Hospital, and his schedule ended at a rally at Island Park. In between he attended gatherings in Hempstead, where perefficient Nassau County Republican Party, reigns as towo leader.

She handed the telephone to the Vice Presideot, and a couple of dozen people in the hunting-decked headquarters fell sileot to listen to him.

"This is a pleasure." he said, "Well, I'm delighted, and I wish you were here: . . . I'm supposed to convince you unless you're already convinced....

Mr. Rockefeller addressed the crowd: Then, speaking again to Mrs. Tonioo, he said: "What a pleasure to talk to you.

You're a lovely lady." Motivation for Party Workers

The Vice President carried off his role with the air of a good soldier.

With the nasal tones and the winks and grimaces that were always a staple of Rockefeller campaigns in New York State, he carried the message that Mr. Ford had cut the inflation growth rate: and "in two short years restored confidence in government, and that the Demo-cratic challenger, Jimmy Carter, bad "vacillated" and might change his mind on major matters if he ever reached the

Arkansas Weighing the Repeal of 'Right-to-Work' Law

By EDWARD COWAN

Special to The New York Times LITTLE ROCK, Ark. - For the one million registered voters of Arkansas, the most exciting contest on the Nov. be low. 2 ballot is not a race for office but a referendum on a contectious issue of Americao industrial relations- union security" versus "right to work."

By collectiog more than 100,000 petition signatures, organized labor has put on the ballot a proposed amendment to tributions were coming from corporations the state Constitution that would go a outside the state, with placts in Arkanlong way toward repeal of the present sas. Mr. Becker acknowledged that outso-called right-to-work law. This law side unions and the national A.F.L.-C.f.O. prohibits clauses in collective bargaining were contributing to the campaign. "It's cootracts that require a worker to joio a union or make "agency" payments equivalent to dues to keep his job.

The contest is the only "right-to-work"

issue on the hallot this year in any state, according to the National Right to Work Committee of Fairfax, Va. Labor and management are watching the outcome as a clue to what might happen in 1977 in other states and in Congress.

Jimmy Carter, the Democratic Presidential nominee, has said that if he is elected, he would sign a bill to repeal Section 14(b) of the Taft-Hartley Act of 1947. This law gives states the right to probibit "union-security" clauses. Labor has sought for years to repeal 14(b). 20 States Have Prohibitions

Twenty states have such prohibitions, according to the Fairfax committee. Arkansas and Florida were the first to adopt them, in 1944. Last summer, Louisiana became the 20th state to adopt the prohibitioo clause.

The arguments reverberating in Arkan-sas this autumn have been well-hooed in other states in other years. "The issue is the right to work without having to join a unioo," said Gene Caotrill and Lou Kitchio, right-wing campaign consultants who have been sent into Arkansas by the Fairfax committee with a budget Mr. Kitchin estimated at about $80,000. Labor stresses that Arkansas wages are below the national average. Wheo pressed on the compulsion issue, union officials reply that the Taft-Hartley Act compels them to represent all employees, nonmember "free riders" [those who pay on dues] as well as union members.

Against the Amendment

Arrayed against the proposal, which is called Amendment 59, is a coalitioo of corporations, bankers, businessmeo, county farm bureaus and individual workers. State Representative Cecil Alex-

Church to Stay in Senate

DENVER, Oct. 27 (UPI)-Senator Frank Church, an unsuccessful candidate for the Democratic Presidential nomination, says that he will not accept a position in a Jimmy Carter Administration if the former Georgia Governor is elected Presideot. "I think I can reoder a better service to both my state and the country by remaining in the Senate," the Idaho Democrat said yesterday. He was here to campaign for ander, speaker of the House and director believed to be leaning against the of the campaign, said that his Freedom to Work Committee would speed $250,000 on publicity, but he conceded in an interview that this estimate might the low the low.

er, president of the state Americao Federation of Labor and Congress of Industrial Organizations, would disclose his campaign budget. Each insisted the opposition would spend more. sition would spend more.

Mr. Alexander acknowledged that conwere contributing to the campaign. "It's dues money we have sent to them," he said. "It's our own money coming back."

The 65 unions affiliated with the A.F.L. The 65 unions affiliated with the A.F.L. C.1.O. in Arkansas plus three major independent unions — the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, the United Automobile Workers and the Uoited Mine Workers—are concentrating on getting their 110.000 members to the polls on Nov. 2

Approved by 12,000 Votes

In 1944, wheo the state's population was about what it is now, two million; the "right-to-work" amendment was aphase endorsed Amendment S9. The reason proved by a vote of 105,000 to 88,000, is not hard to find. Arkansas has a long Sioce theo, Arkansas has attracted oew history of actiunionism. As R. C. Durham, factories and union membership has a candidate for the presideocy of a teamgrown. But so has the proportion of the sters' local, put it, "People are born here elderly in the population and they are 'dead set against the unioos."

the national average. They imply that Ameodment 59 would remedy that dis-

a lawyer who says he represents small unions and individual workers. The opponents, Mr. Lamb asid, fail to acknowledge that employers must agree to union se curity at the bargaining table, and that the amendment alone would not give it to labor.

The unions, he said, do not tell their members that "they're going to have to leave mooey on the table to get union because everythiog at the bargaiong table is a swapout."

Opposents cooteod that repeal of the "right-to-work" law would make it harder for Arkansas to attract new plants and jobs and would open the door to unions in agriculture. The unions cootend that their opposeous are trying to keep wages down and profits up.

Values to live by in 1976

The fate of men and nations is determined by the values which govern their decisions.

Our national crisis is basically spiritual although focussed through political and economic issues. Na-tional crises test the national character giving us opportunity to reappraise the values we accept as a standard for daily living.

The innate good sense, the wisdom, justice and the will-to-good of the American people are today in confrontation with those elements in our own nature which are materialistic and self-seeking, causing division and destruction.

What are the self-evident truths and the values which should determine our decisions in 1976?

A love of truth as the only safe standard for a just, inclusive and progressive society.

A sense of justice which includes love and compassion, generosity and understanding,and a willingness for self-renunciation.

A sense of personal responsibility for group, community and national affairs and for self-control in personal matters.

A spirit of cooperation based on the active energy of goodwill and the principle of right human relations.

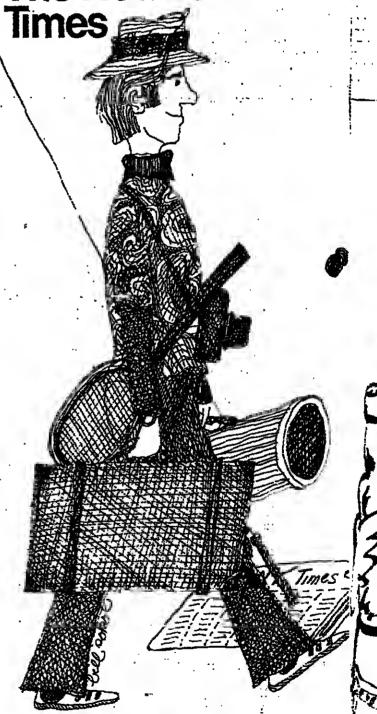

Serving the common good by personal concern and the willingness to share.
Only what is good for all is good for each one.

There are soul qualities inspiring the attains of daily life with spiritual energy. Let us identify and support those whose decisions are determined by these

76,000-seat stadium at the Meadowlands in East Rutherford, N. J., a spokesman for the team said yesterday." Official announcement of the agreement with the New Jersey Sports Authority will be made today. "It's got to be the best soccer stadium in the East and probably in the entire country," Jim Trecker, Cosmos" public relations director said. "For one thing, it's soccer-shaped, since it's a football field, not a baseball stadium. We've been looking for many years for the right stadium, and the Meadowlands seem to be the answer."

The Cosmos have been using the facilities at Randalis Island but have been looking for a more fitting showcase for their all-star, Pelé.

Port Richmond Facing a Key Test In Quest for P.S.A.L. Playoff Spot

A football team is growing in the shadnw of the Bayonne Bridge on Staten Island and if the Purt Richmond Minstels grow much more, they might find themselves champions of the Public Schools Athletic League.

"We're very proud of our program," says Coach Nick Bilntti, wonse team has swept its first six . School games and faces a big test with Susan Wagner next week for the Staten Island division title. That program, begun in 1969, has been successful before, but this is the first time Port Richmond is in the P.S.A.L. title picture. In 1973 the Minsstrels wan the division championship, but the five Island schools were not part of the P.S.A.L. championship structure. Port Richmond was an un-Invited champion.

"I'm still annoyed about that," says "We won, but we chuldn't gn anywhere." Scheduling difficulties had kept the five Staten Island public schools nut of the playoff setup that

This year the Island champinn will be invited, and such players as Jim Wiley and Walter Bnwers could get the Minstrels to the playoffs. Wiley, a running back, is averaging more than 100 yards a game. Bilotti says the 5-foot-11-inch, 185-pounder, "knocks people over." Bowers, the senior quar-terback, directs the offense and throws well enough and often enough to keep the ground game going.

Last year Port Richmond had many of the same players, but the presence of two nutstanding players—Jeff Henry, a middle guard, and Carl McCoy, a - may have kept the team

"I relied too much on McCoy and Henry," say Biletti. "Maybe the kids did, too."

: Without a big star, the Minstrels could be singing a happy tune next month at playoff time and the mem-ories of 1973 could fade.

For years St. Francis Prep has been Catholic Schenis Football League owerhouse. The Terriers won the City Divisinn last season, finished second the year before, and won the C.S.F.L. title in 1973. But this season Coach Vince O'Connor seems to have put together an awesome—and surprising offensive machine.

Last Sunday against Hayes, the teams conbined for 997 yards total offense, with St. Francs winning, 54-30. Frank Doria, a senior, ran for three touchdowns and gained 22S yards on 12 carries. He bas 12 touchdowns in four league victories and is averaging more than 16 yards (yes, 16 yards) every time he carries the ball. Doria had been a smoldering talent until he began in sizzle this season and ex-ploded last Sunday. "I asked him what was different." O'Connor said, "he said, I started to see the red jerseys [of Hayes]. It's wonderful when a talented boy be-comes aware of what's happening in front of him. "You find the key and the real talent comes through."

There is other real talent on the Terrier team. Dom DeSimone, a cocaptain and fullback who also brings in the plays, had his play called 24 times against Hayes and ran for 158 yards and three touchdowns. Mike Marchasella, the quarterback, completed only two passes—but both were for touchdowns.

The performance of Hayes's quarterback, Walt Springer, cannot be over-looked either. He completed 16 of 24 passes for 302 yards and four touch-

"Everytime I turned around," said O'Connor, "someone was kicking nff."

St. Francis's main competition in the City Division is Spellman and Holy Cross. Spellman plays neither team, but Hnly Cross and St. Francis have a date on Nov. 14. . . All three teams have 4-0 won-lost records in the league. . . Holy Trinity, unbeaten in five games, leads the Long Island Division. . . . In the P.S.A.L. Bayside has virtually clinched the Queens title and Clinton seems safe in the Bronx. In Brooklyn, the teams have been knocking one another cff, but Brooklyn Tech seems to have the edge. The Engineers play at Canarsie on Sunday. New Utrecht plays Jefferson on Saturday in the division's other key game.

Urban League's Contest Matches Two Teams Not Exclusively Black

By AL HARVIN

Steve Graeff, tha whita quarterback at predomioantly black Norfolk State College, has become such a fixture on tha football team that Dick Price, the black head coach, no longer reaches for the snappy one-liner when asked about him. Price very often just throws the questioner a wry cliché, such as, "Some of my best friends are white" or "I don't cara if a kid is black or white or purple, so loog as he has talent." Norfolk State hasn't had any occasion to recruit a purple athlete. However, heavy recruitment of black athletes hy the hig predominantly whita schools in the South has forced the black schools to seek white athletes,

"in self-defense." Norfolk State has been recruiting whitas since 1962. So, although Graeff is something of an oddity in that he is a white quarterback for a predominantly black school. he is not "a first" and oot even that much of a rarity on the campus of 4.500 students.

"I would say that whites are outnum-bered about 150 to I on campus," said Graeff, a senior majoring in graphic design and commercial arts. "At the beginning of the season, we had six whites on the team. We now have five, and I believe four of them will be coming to New York for the game."

"The game" is the sixth annual Whitney M. Young Jr. Memorial Classic, at 2 P.M. Saturday in Yankee Stadium between Norfolk State and Bethune-Cookman of Daytona, Beach, Fla., for League, Graeff started at quarterback in the game last year. Grambling won, 26-0, but the score was 0-0 when he went out with an injured shoulder io the first balf.

White players have played in the contest since 1968, when Grambing (La.) College and Morgan State of Baltimore, came North to give the predominantly black schools more exposure under the auspices of the Foothall Coaches Foundation. The game was later taken over by the Urban League and renamed io hooor of the late Whitney M. Young Jr., executive director of the National Urban League.

Nets Set Back Bullets: At Coliseum, 96 to 93

UNIONDALE, L. I., Oct. 27--The Nets defeated the Washington Bullets, 96-93, in their home National Baskethall Association opener tonight at the Nassau Coliseum, but few appeared to care. The crowd was announced at 5,832, but one of the ushers said he doubted there were 5,000 persons in the building.

The Coliseum's capacity for basket-ball is 15,934, and tha Nets' average crowd last season was 7,500.

The guard-oriented Nets, in winning their second game io four starts, got 65 points from their backcourt. Nate Archibald scored 26, John Williamson 22 and Al Skinner 17.

Banners 'Aimed at Boe

It was evident that the sparse crowd was a protest over the sale of Julius Erving to the Philadelphia 76ers. At the entrance to the arena, a makeshifo banner directed at Roy Boe, tha club president read: "A Tisket, a Tasket, We Want Boe in a Casket."

In the loge hung signs, "Sell Roy Boe" and "Is There a Doctor in the House." Two young boys carried a cardboard sign that read: "Boe Must

Ailing NamathUnlikely To Play Against Bills

In a move that perhaps meant oothing more serious than a Band-Aid covering a scrape, the Jets signed a journeymao quarterback yesterday because of the likelihood that Joe Namath would be unable to play on Sunday.

Namath's right knee was still badly swollen as a result of his weekly beating, the latest last Suoday by the Baltimore Colts. He was removed from the game after baviog been belted in the back of the head.

"If Joe can practice, be'll play," said Coach Lou Holtz. But Namath might not be able to practice. If not, Richard Todd, the highly touted rookie, would get his first start against the Bills on Sunday at Buffalo.

To back up Todd, the Jets signed Larry Lawrence, whose last joh was with the Tampa Bay Buccaneers. He saw only one quarter of mopup action, failing to complete five passes against the San Diego Chargers in a 23-0 loss. Lawrence is 27 years old, 6 feet 1 inch tall and weighs 208 pounds. The other Nets don't begrudge him the $3 millico. They hlame Roy Boe for selling him, like one of Secretariat's colts, especially without getting any players in re-turn. But the Nets' players must realize that Dr. J sold them out, too. If they haven't realized it yet, they will Saturday when the Nets play the 76ers in Philadelphia and Dr. J soars in for a slandunk

Dr. J has his $3 million but in Philadelphia he'll always be a strangar. Ha beloogs with the Nets in the Nassau Coliseum, not far from where he grew up on the Roosevelt playgrounds. He was emotionally involved in the Nets' struggle for identity.

The Unusual Chemistry

For the same reason, Roy Boe can't expect the Nets' fans to be as emotionally involved as they were when Dr. J was not only "the franchise" but also "the league," the purists' best argument for the merger. Without him, the N.B.A. couldn't call itself the best league. But without him, the Nets can't call themselves an asset to the merger. Roy Boe has only his ego and his economy to blame. Roy Boe didn't want to be dictated to and he didn't want the other Nets and his Islander hockey players demanding to renegotiate their contracts. His solution was to deflate the value of his franchise and destroy the spirit of the Nets' community. Because of the unusual chemistry involving Dr. J and the Nets and the merger, Roy Boe had a responsibility to the Nets' community. That's why the Nets' season-ticket bolders deserve a refund if they wish.

That's also why Commissioner Larry O'Brien should have worked harder to keep Dr. J in a Nets' uniform. When the Buffalo. Braves' owner, Paul Snyder, wanted to sell his franchise to a Miami group, O'Brien reacted.
"O'Brien blocked it," Snyder bas been quoted as having said. "He let me know in no uncertain terms that owning a team is a two-sided deal. He forced me to face up to my responsibility to the community." Roy Boe also had a responsibility to the community, but he ignored it. The commissioner didn't ignore it. His office mentiooed the possibility of arbitration, but didn't pursue

Now the commissioner has to be concerned about the future of the Nets' franchise. And then there is Irwin. Weiner, the agent. "My biggest concern was my player," Irwin Weiner says.

"I had to look out for my player." . But somehow an agent always seems to be saying that his higgest concern is his 10 percent.

Giants' Plays To Be Called On Sidelines

By MICHAEL KATZ Special to The New York Tim

PLEASANTVILLE, N.Y., Oct. 27-Craig Mortoo, who was happy to finally get "my own team" when he cama the Giants two years ago, lost his team to the sidelines today.

In his first major decision since taking over as head coach from Bill Am-sparger on Monday, John McVay took away tha play-calling responsibility from the quarterback.

McVay tried bis best to downplay the change, waiting until after Morton left for the day to make the announcemeot and stressing that even under Arnsparger the coaching staff called "more than 60 percent of the offensive plays anyway." Morton felt liberated when he came to the Giants from the Dallas Cowboys, where Tom Landry insists that coaches know more than quarterbacks.

Giants Offense Well-Defended

"I hope I'm not really overdoing the calling the play hit," said McVay. "It's no big deaf and everybody does it. And Craig's reaction was fine. All Craig wants to do is win, I know if I said, 'Craig, we can wio if we shift into a single wing,' he'd jump right back there and be a tailback.

"Craig does not really need a lift. He'a bright, experienced and has a good grasp of the game. But it's a decision we made because we feel there are certain plays we wanted to have

McVay defended the Giants' offense, which has been well-defended by all seven of the team's opponeous this season (76 points in seven losses). "There are some things we've done well," the coach said, "other things we're not doing worth a nickel," No matter what the play is worth

WESTBURY, L.I., Oct. 27-Stanley Dancer and Billy Haughton, scheduled to drive the highly regarded Keystone Ore and Windshield Wiper, respectively, in next Saturday's rich and prestigi-ous Messenger Stakes at Roosevelt

A scuffle between the two teams behind the Boston goal almost midway through the second period led to a four-on-three skater advantage for the Rangers after the penalties had been meted out, but again the Ranger power play failed. The Bruins' penalty-killers—Dallas Smith, Park and Sheppard formed a triangular harrier and adjusted so quickly to their opponents' moves that clear shots at Gilbert were

The main combatants in the scuffle had been Wayne Cashman, a wing who makes his nastiness felt with his stick, and Pat Hickey, a quiet Ranger of vola-tile temper. Cashman was assessed a minor penalty for charging, as was his teammate Mike Milbury, while Hodge was called for roughing. Hickey was assessed a game-misconduct penalty.

Unable to pick up a goal in the next two minutes, or during another penalty to Cashman later in the period, the Rangers watched the Bruins score on a power play with 14 seconds remaining in the middle session. Mike McEwen was sitting in the penalty box as Mc-Nab chopped in a pass from Sheppard to make the score 3-1.

"Who knows where we'll be at the end of next year? What we do depends on what the auto industry does," the spokesman said. "We might end up 180 degrees from where we are right now, but we feel this is the logical move at this time."

Foxboro Acts to Curtail Drinking at Patriot Games

FOXBORO, Mass., Oct. 27 (UPI)-The board of selectmen, reacting to the vio-lence during the last home game of the New England Patriots, voted last night to institute personal searches for liquor and restrict beer sales at Schaefer Stadium.

It approved a proposal to allow security personnel to ask a fan to submit to a search when entering the stadium. It also approved abolishing the sale of beer in the stands by vendors. Beer would be available at concessions in the stadium's concourse areas. Before the chaoge in the stadium's liquor license can become law, a public hearing must be held. The hearing is scheduled Nov. 4.

At a game Oct. 18, state and local policemeo made 49 arrests for disorder-

Tuscaloosa Takes Open Jumper Class

LANDOVER, Md., Oct. 27-The United States Equestrian Team won its first class in five attempts at the Washington International horse show tonight when Tuscaloosa beat 35 rivals in the international-open jumper class.

With Dennis Murphy, a member of the squad that competed in last summer's Olympic Games, riding Tusca-lonsa captured the blue ribbon in the accumulator calls—an event in which each jump is rated at 2 points.

Tuscaloosa, who is on loan to the U.S.E.T. by the Gulf States Paper Company, cleared all 18 jumps and finished with 36 points, But Tuscaloosa was not alone in getting around he course with the maximum points. Ten other entries in the test, which being held at the Capital Centre, also compiled 36 points. So time separated the group. Tuscaloosa was clocked in 30.5 seconds, just a helf second better than Harry Gill's Idle Dice, handled by Rodney Jenkins.

Old English, sent in by Mr. and Mrs. Patricl: Butler and piloted by Conrad Horrfeld, was fourth with a time of 33.4

Top Players Signed For W.C.T.'s Tour

DALLAS, Oct. 27 (UPI) — World Championship Tennis said today it had signed seven of the world's top 10 players, including Bjorn Borg of Sweden, to play on its $2.5 million tour next year.

Jimmy Connors was signed earlier this week. Borg, the defending W.C.T. champion, and Wambledon winner, joined the list today.

Others on the tour are lie Nastase of Rumania, Adriano Panatta of Italy, Eddie Dibbs of the United States, Manuel Orantes of Spain and Harold Solomon of the United States,

The list also includes Ken Rosewall, Tony Roche, John Alexander, Rod Laver, Dick Stockton, Vitas Gerulaitis, Tom Okker, Jan Kodes, Onny. PaPrum and Cliff Drysdale.

Ervasti's 76 or 152 Wins Medal in North-South Golf

PINEHURST, N.C. Oct. 27 (AP)— Ed Ervavsti, tied for third going into today's round, carded his second 76 for a 36-hole total of 152 to win the qualifying medal by a stroke in the 25th annual North and South Seniors golf championship.

Paul Severin of Richmond, a former all-America football player at the University of North Carolina, was second at 153 after closing with a 78. Ervasti of London, Ontario, the Canadian seniors golf champion, will meet Clay Felts of Matthews, N.C., in tomorrow's first round of match play leading to Sunday's title match. Felts qualified with a 156, where be was in a three-way tie after shooting rounds of 77-79 over the Pinehurst Country Club's No. 2 course, which is playing at 6,450 yards and par 72 for from going. Now my father is a superfan. He goes to all the games. Ha even drove all the way to the Grambling game[in Yankee Stadium last year]."

Besides Mr. and Mrs. Graeff and Steve's younger brother James, also a quarterback, other whites are coming out in greater numbers to the Norfolk State games. Cal Jacox, the sports information director, estimates that 1,500 whites attend each game. Broadened popularity of the predominantly black schools is part of what this game in New York City is all about too.

Arnsparger Back in Miami To Revive Dolphin Defense

Bill Arnsparger is working again. Two days after he was dropped as head coach of the New York Giants, Arnsparger became defense coordinator of the Miami Dolphins, the same position he held for four years before taking over the Giants' helm in 1974. He will have the title of assistant head coach.

Arnsparger, who helped create the successful "No Name" Dolphins defense, returns to Miami at a time when the team's defense has sagged to the point where it is among the worst in the National Foothall League. Don Shula, the Dolphins' coach, of'fered the job as soon as he heard of 'Arnsparger's dismissal. Happy to be back at work, Arnsparger said, "Wednesday aiways was a good day for defense, and I've missed only one day of practice."

Also in the department of the briefly unemployed, Dave Osborn, a running back for the Minnesota Vikings for 12 years until he was cut at the start of this sasoo, was acquired by the Greeo Bay Packers. Osborn, 33 years old, is the third-ranking active rusher in the N.F.L. with a career total of 4,320

Arnold Palmer was forced to with-draw from the Pensacola open goli tournament after deotal surgery that required 14 stitches in his gums. The tournament begins today. The 47-yearold folk hero of professional golf underwent the operation Tuesday, and it turned out to be more extensive than expected. Palmer's withdrawal leaves Jerry Pate, the hometown hero, as the top attraction in the 150-man field, Pate has won this year's United States and Canadian Opens, the Pacific Masters in Japan and has clinched rookie-of-the year honors.

The absence of Jack Nicklaus, Ben Crenshaw and Hale Irwin from the Pensacola tournament insures that Nicklaus will finish 1976 as the leading money-winner at $266,438. Hale and Crenshaw were the only two pros with a chance to beat him, but they also elected to sit out this event.

Red Smith, the Pulitzer Prize-winning sports columnist of The New York Times, was inducted into Madisoo Square Garden's Hall of Fame. At the induction luncheon, Mike Burke, president of the Garden, summarized Smith's career with a quotation from William Butler Yeats: "He is immune to all cootagious opinions of poorer minds."

Other speakers included James

Then in the sixth, Cuevas knocked down the Japanese with a left-right to the jaw. Tsujimoto got up and took a mandatory eight-count, theo went down from a straight right to the jaw. After another count, Cuevas forced him to the ropes and dropped him to one knee. The referee stopped the fight at 2:29 of he round.

Cuevas weighed 145¼ pounds in scoring his 19th victory and 17th knockout in 23 pro fights. Tsujimoto weighed 146¼.

alignment) he's got to get out of it."
Many National Football League quarterbacks are relieved of the play-selection duty, and Morton is joining some good company: the Cowboys' Roger Staubach, Bengels' Keo Anderson, Pa-triots' Steve Grogan and all three Los Angeles Ram quarterbacks. Even Joe Namath was given the plays by the Jets for one game this season.

Under Arnsparger, Morton was given the Giants' first three plays on the sideline before the offense's first series (there were altrnatives, of course, such as a pass play for third down and long, a run for third and short). Whenever a substitue entered, he usually brought in a play and whenever the offense prepared to re-enter the game, the first play was given the quarterback.

"You know that old story about the coach who told the quarternack to sweep right, sweep left, bootleg and theo punt," said McVay, "So the kid gains 10 yards, 10 yards and 12 yards and theo bieks" and theo kicks."

For the game at Giants Stadium against the Philadelphia Eagles on Sunday, Allan Wehh, the backfield coach, and Ted Plumb, the receivers coach, will spot in the press box and telephone Ray Wietecha, the offensive lice coach, and Hunter Enis, the quarterback coach, what they see. McVay himself will oot necessarily decide on what play will be called.

Csonka Expected to Play

McVay made some other changes. Meetings were shorter by an hour and practice, which oo Tuesdays had been reserved for offense, was divided: 20 minutes on defense, 45 oo offense. Iostead of the usual mile run at the eod of practice, individual uoits worked oo basics . . . Larry Csonka and Ciyde "questionable" hecause of injuries, did oot work out, hut both said they would play against the Eagles . . . Brian Keliey, who took over at weak-side linebacker from Pat Hughes, has also replaced Hughes as the defensive team's signal-caller. The defenses are also signalled from the sideline.

Bill Arnsparger in Miami yesterday, after being appointed defense coordinator of the Dolphins.

Times who brought Smith to this oewspaper when The New York Herald Trib-une folded in 1966, and Harry Markson, the Garden's former boxing promoter.

Danny Ozark, who led the Philadelphia Phillies through a slump and inter-nal strife to the Eastern Division title, was designated National League man-ager of the year by both United Press International and The Associated Press. The Phillies' lead of 15½ games dwin-dled in early September to three games, but under Ozark's low-key leadership the club straightened out to win 13 of its last 16 regular-season games.

Ozark, 52, was a runaway leader in the U.P.I. poll of its hasehall correspondents, with Bill Virdon of Houston. second, to the A.P. poll of sportswriters and broadcasters, he was far ahead of Sparky Andersoo of the Cincinnati Reds. Anderson's club swept Philadelphia io the playoffs and then went on to beat the Yankees four straight in the World Series.

The professionals of two distinguished golf clubs, Claude Harmon of Winged Foot at Mamaroneck, N.Y., and Dave Carolan of Baltusrol at Springfield, N.J., are about to retire. Miss Allyson, 52, first appeared here, just out of high school in the Bronx, in "Very Warm for May." After many movie and televisioo roles, she appeared on stage for the first time in 27 years in "40 Carats" here in 1970. After Mr. Powell's death, Miss Allyson was married briefly to Glen Maxwell, s Newport Beach barber.

Receiving a 60th-birthday cake in the Israeli Parliament yesterday, François Mitterand reaffirmed the support of his French Socialist Party for Israel. Call-ing it "an honor" to celebrate a birth-day in Jerusalem. Mr. Mitterand said, "We all have a feeling of belonging to Jerusalem." Later he conferred with Prime Minister Yltzhak Rabin on Middle East issues.

"I am the daughter of the Czar of Russia—there was no massacre," said Anna Anderson Manahao of Charlottesville, Va., making her first television appearance yesterday after decades of futile legal efforts to be recognized as the Grand Duchess Aoastasia. Mrs. Manahan, 76 years old, has denied—as historians have generally accepted—that Czar Nicholas II, Czarina Alexaodra, their soo and four daughters were massacred in Yekaterinburg, in the Urals, in July 1916. Yesterday she appeared in a taped interview on ABC's 'Good Morning, America!" Interviewed live on the show were Anthony Sum-mers and Tom Mangold, whose book published yesterday, "The File on the Tsar," gives credence to Mrs. Maoahan's

For years a recluse in her Black Forest cottage in Germany, Mrs. Maoahan has been married to John Manahan since 1968, when she was 67 and he was 49. Dr. Manahan, now retired as a history professor at the University of Virginia, had supported her claim to being Anastasia for a decade before the two met.

Feld Restages His 'A Poem Forgotten' at the Public

By CLIVE BARNES

Obscurity is not usually Eliot Feld's problem. Even at his most oblique, such as in his haunting commedia del' arte piece 'Theater," he usually makes his points with admirable, if at times poetically ambiguous clarity. I cannot feel that way about "A Poem Forgotten," a work he first created for his earlier company, the American Ballet Company, in 1970.

On Tuesday night at the New York Shakespeare's Festival's Public Theater, he gave a new production of the work with his present, larger company, the Eliot Feld Ballet. Set to somewhat inconclusive music by Wallingford Riegger-it is his Concerto for Piano and Wind Quintet and seems in two minds as to whether it wants to be modern or romantic-Mr. Feld is obviously trying to teil a very symbolic story about a boy growing up and remembering passages of his childhood and early relationships.

In its visual symbolism of such acin its visual symbolism of such activities as birth, seduction and rape, it has something of the choreographic metaphorical quality of Antony Tudor's "Undertow," but Mr. Tudor was atways careful to link his metaphors with a perfectly place as a second of the choreographic such as a second of the c with a perfectly clear narrative. This is a precaution Mr. Feld has not taken. The fact that the choreography for.

"A Poem Forgotten," or at least its symbolic dramaturgy, is some way removed from Mr. Feld's customary style, and the fact that he has wanted to review the work suggests that it might have more than usual interest for him. For a choreographer whose work usually makes a special virtue of its transparency, such opequeness seems more than usually startling. Yet there are some good things hereportrait of the boy, sensitively played hy Jeff Satinoff, has its merits, and despite the emotional aridity of the music, has a convey an atmosphere of dark sexuality growing up in a cold climate.

However, even now, six years after the event, I suggest that this is still tha sketch of a hallet yet to be cre-ated, or perhaps the first image of a choreographic style yet to be explored. Nothing Mr. Feld does is without interest—hut some have more interest than others, and here one senses work In progress, rather than an achieve-ment fulfilled. Obscurity can be poet-ic, obscurantism, which this is dangerously near, is merely infuriating.

The program also included Kathryn Posin's "Waves"; Mr. Feld's recent solo for the Stuttgart hallerina Birgit Keil, "Impromptu," and his well-known "Intermezzo," which has not yet been re-viewed this season in these pages.

"Intermezzo" is a gorgeously textured work to Brahms, a ballet that can hold its own with Jerome Robbins's "Dancers at a Gathering." This is a celebration of dance. Mr. Feld plays around with it from time to time—the solitary female solo has now been omitted one notes-but it remains an eternally pleasing choreographic rhapsody. It was beautifully danced by Christine Sarry, partnered by Mr. Feld himself; Linda Miller and George Montalbano, and the intensely direct Ed-mund LaFosse partnering the company's guest artist, Miss Keil.

With all respect to the others, Miss Keil was a revelation—a great halle-rina moving with her own confidence into great choreography new to her. The late John Cranko developed Miss Keil, and brought a great deal out from her, hut Mr. Feld uses her with a dif-ferent intensity. She shines with a new

Music: Johanessen's Quiet Way

Pianist Is Major Interpreter of Poulenc Compositions

GRANT JOHANNESSEN, planist, At the 92d Street V.M.-Y.W.H.A. Verlations, Interiode and Phale to a Theore of Remeau ... Dieseust: L'iste Jarens ... Debussy Les Animoux Modeles (New York prepiers) ... Poulere Nociume No. 12; Valse Caprice No. 3 ... Faire

By HAROLD C. SCHONBERG

In an age of superheated viruosos. the American pianist Grant Johannesen goes his quiet way, specializing in the French literature for the piano, playing this music calmiy, elegantly, and with extraordinary finish of style. He also avoids the hackneyed items of the repertory, and his program last night at the Lexington Avenue Y.M.-Y.W.H.A. was no exception.

Indeed, there was only one familiar work on the entire program De-Bussy's "I Isle joyense." And there was one work that this listener had never before encountered. Paul Dukas today is remembered only by a few pieces, notably the symphonic poem "L'Apprenti sorcier" and his opera, "Ariane et Barbe-bleu." But he was a major figure in turn-of-the-century French music, and Mr. Johanessen resurrected his "Variations, Interlude and Finale on a Theme of Jean-Philippe

It is a long and complex work, owing something to Franck and just as much to the chromaticism of Max Reger.
There even is a look back to Schumean's "Symphonic Etudes." But this is not merely derivative or eclectic music. It is written with real understanding of the instrument's potential, has a secure compositional tech-mque, and puts the simple Rameau theme through some ingenious trans-

Another novelty was Poulenc's "Les animaux modeles." Here Mr. Johan-nesen should bave had program credit: Poulenc composed this score as a ballet in 1941, and Mr. Johanessen has made a piano arrangement of some of the episodes. The pianist is probably Poulenc's, outstanding interpreter today, and naturally he knows the Poulenc style inside out

These little sketches, so skillfully worked up by Mr. Johanessen, provide a charming set of miniatures. The mu-sic is mostly in Poulenc's flip, sophis-ticated manner, though here and there a deeper note is struck, Mr. Johanessen had fun playing "Les animanx mo-dèles," and the andience enjoyed it just as moch

Of Debussy, in addition to "L'Isle joyeaux," there were the three "images" of Book II, and these are played so seldom today that they came almost as a novelty. Even the last of the set, "Poissons d'or," which used to be so popular a generation ago, is largely neglected today. Mr. Johanessen also played the "Masques," another Dehussy plano piece that has all but dropped out of sight.

His Ideas about Debussy were interesting. Years back, Dehussy generally was played with plenty of pedal and with a hazy kind of impressionism. Then the new geoeratioo and their neoclassic ideas came along, and Debussy suddenly was played with clarity, spare pedal and sharp outlines. The first way probably was more correct. Debussy's ideal, after all, was a piano without hammers.

Mr. Johanessen took a middle course. He used pedal, but always saw to it that the outline of the music emerged strong and clear. His ideas were graceful, and he caressed the music lovingly. It was fine Dehussy playing.

Two Fauré pieces ended the evening tha Nocturne No. 13 and the Valse-Caprice No. 3. It was in the Valse-Caprice that Mr. Johanessen allowed himself some uninhibited virtuosity, and that was only because it was the only display piece on the program. He had played the difficult Dukas with complete mastery, but that was different. In the Fauré, he sparkled.

One is apt to forget how strong a technician Mr. Johanessen is, because he so seldom engages in sheer display. He remains one of the finest of American pianists; and he is a superior musician who found his metier early along and has been content to stick to it. Few pianists give so satisfactory a

Describing the ideas behind the navel, Mr. Fuentea said: "It's about the future imagined. Cervantes is one of the many characters. The novel asks, Who is more powerful, Felipe II of Spain or Don Quixote? The history of Spain is a story of feats and defeats. Spain was the only country where three civilizations—Christian, Jewish and Moor-ish—thrived tngether for 700 years. Spain's greatness ended with the destruction of the Jewish and Moorish influence. Without the Jews, we would not be writing novels in Spanish today.

"The novel also moves across to the New World, where the destruction continued. There are parallels, if you look for them, be-tween the treatment of Mexico and Vietnam by the United States.

Eveo Lincoln was against the Mexlcan war when he was a Congressman. The novel hopes to leave an impression that there should be multiplicity of civilizations, a freedom to accept the ideas and cultures of all people everywhere."

International Protests

That iocident touched off international protests in the intellectual community in the United States and the world. It embarrassed the Nixon Administration and elements of the Justice and State Departments, and led to a reconsideration of the vague sections of the immigration laws that were used to ban artists, writers, scientists and teachers.

During the Kennedy Administra-tion and before, Mr. Fuentes had also had visa troubles, "I was Bobby Kennedy when he was At-torney General," he said, "but I was not allowed to leave Manhattan. One night Norman Mailer came over from Brooklyn and a Humphrey Bngart-type character in trenchenat tailed us through the streets. We thought we shook nur gendarme that night but the next morning, when I looked out the window of a friend's place in Man-hattan, there was Bogart waiting

Although he follows most of the modern writers on both sides of tha Atlantic and Caribbean, Mr. Fuentes finds himself increasing-ly interested in the works of Wil-liam Faulkner, Dashiell Hammett and Raymond Chandler-for reasons peculiar to his own experience as a Mexican novelist.

'Faulkner a Tragic Novelist' "I think of Faulkner as a Caribbean writer," he explained, "be-cause of his nwn baroque style and themes—a tragic novelist of loss and defeat in a country used to victories. Hammett la Hammett—a storyteller with an opaque quality that shines through his hard-boiled realism. I often reread his 'Red Harvest.' And Chandler is the ultimate California writer, the state where territorial expansion endsa subject we know a great deal about in Mexico -- and extremes and extremism begins." Intertwining fiction and personal history, as in "Terra Nostra,". Ambassador Fuentes now strode along Manhattan's streets freely, without looking over bis shoulder for Bogart, pondering the next theme for Novelist Fuentes to write, always nn Sunday.

distills emotion into a few movements and the way she carves out an attitude about life-as ahe sees allet. Miss Sokolow has a marvelous

it— and lets it color the entire feeling for big city life, for urban tensions, for loneliness in the crowd. Yes, she is an expressionist. But what is she expressing here? It is, of course, the alienation of young people in jeans who act but really want to touch.

They are rebellious. After screaming at the andience while sitting at the edge of the stage, they jump into the figurative equivalent of an abyss—the orcbestra pit. There are eight couples and four sections. In the first, there is a street gang atmosphere that bas the girls tossed around. Then, four boys pay hip-wiggling court to the candy store vamp, wittily portrayed by Pamela Nearhoof in wigand silver halter. William Whitener leads the third section, based on natural movements, while the defiant conclusion begins with a mimed motorcycle gang theme.

Dermot Burke, who was in the First cast 11 years ago, has admirably staged this production although, interestingly, it stresses the young people's toughness more than their vulnerability. The reason might be traced to the fact that the present cast was in its teens or younger when the hallet was created. The loss of innocence that followed that period is felt in the way the present generation of Joffrey dancers is unable to portray innocence. There is no more astute commentary on Miss Sokolow's warning about youth's dis-contect in this ballet than the way it is performed today.

How the Business World Views Presidential Race

What would a victory for Jimmy Carter mean for business and the econ-omy? And what would a Ford victory mean? Much of the business community has decided that a Republican victory would be good news, a Democratic victory bad news—and it is quite possible that the markets immediately after next Tuesday's election will reflect that common appraisal of people with money to invest or stocks to sell.

But, for the longer run, it is far from clear that the sharply contrasting busi-ness forecasts based on either a Carter or Ford victory make much sense.

During the first year of the next President's term, there is unlikely to be a massive difference in the amount of overall stimulus that a Democratic or Republican Administration would put into the economy.

In the realm of monetary policy, Arthur F Burns will still be chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, and there are unlikely to be enough changes in the membership of the board or of the Federal Open Market Committee, the key policy-making body, to make much

Monetary Outlook

Mr. Carter bas clearly indicated his desire for a more expansive monetary policy. But if Mr. Carter proposes, it will be Dr. Burns who disposes. And Dr. Burns insists he bas no intention of resigning.

It is highly unlikely that Mr. Carter, if be is elected, would immediately try to force Dr. Burns out of office. With the economy's "pause" turning into a "luli"—and in danger of becoming something worse—a cautious new President might hesitate to alarm the business and financial world by a direct assault on Dr. Burns.

Dr Burns bas withstood heavy Administration pressure before — from Richard M. Nixon, who was then President, with the belp of Charles Colson and other White House aides.

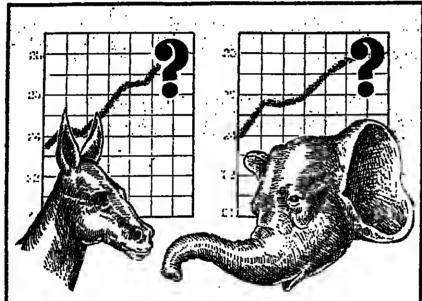

This is not to say that Dr. Burns's feet are planted in concrete. If the now laboring recovery seriously threatened to collapse, Dr. Burns would probably press down interest rates and push for a faster rate of monetary expansion than existing guidelines specify. This would be true whether Mr. Ford or Mr. Carter sat in the White House.

Election Returns

However, if Mr. Carter is elected, he doubtless will press the Fed for a more "Democratic" (that is, easier) monetary policy. And, to a degree, the Federal Reserve, like the Supreme Court, tends to follow the election returns—helped along by Presidential appointments as well as imprecations.

But Dr. Burns is not looking for a battle with Mr. Carter. Even before the election, he has told some of Mr. Carter's advisers that he believes he could work with the former Georgia Governor as President. Mr. Carter might find a useful conservative ally in Dr. Burns on at least one key issue—the adoption

The Chrysler Corporation said earlier this week that it, too, had made a record amount of money during the quarter. Further, Chrysler, said, it had earned more during the first nine months of 1976 than in any other entire year.

Analysts Forecast Increase

G.M. did not quite match that achievenent. Still, its nine-month performancedollar earnings of $2.1 billion—is a record for the period. And with another full quarter to go, the company appeared cer-tain to surpass the record annual profit of $2.398 billion that it earned in the peak domestic-sales year of 1973.

Third-quarter earnings historically are the lowest of the year in the auto indus-try, because July through September is when production slows down so that plants may be re-tooled for the new model year's cars. In the second quarter, G.M. earned $909 million. G.M. reported that its return on sales during the third quarter was 3.9 percent. Industry analysts forecast that it will be 5.9 percent for the year.

Ex-Cell-O's revenues totaled $425 million in 1975. Beodix earned $3.66 a share on revenues of $2.6 billion in fiscal 1975, which ends in Sep-

The Bendix Corporation's plan to ac- the new management's efforts to build quire the Ex-Cell-O Corporation, annonnced after the close of trading on Monday, was received with enthusiasm by Ex-Cell-O shareholders on Tuesday.

Under the agreement, each of Ex-Cell-O's eight million common shares could be exchanged for three quarters. of a share of Bendix. A dividend in-; crease concurrently announced by Bendix would mean that those Ex-Cell-O holders who took the Bendix shares would enjoy an increase in their dividend income to $1.50 annually a share from $1.10 a share.

On the other hand, Ex-Cell-O shareholders have the option under the plan to take $30 in cash per share for up to 40 percent of the Ex-Cell-O shares, meaning that the transaction would probably be taxable for all Ex-Cell-O holders as a purchase under the tax

Nevertheless, the purchase price represented a substantial premium for Ex-Cell-O and in Tuesday's market, after a delayed opening, Ex-Cell-O shares jumped to 27%, closing at 26¼, up 3¼ on the day. Volume was 76,100 shares. Bendix closed at 39, down %, as 6,300 shares changed hands.

On Wednesday Bendix closed at 39¼ and Ex-Cell-O closed at 26%.

Ex-Cell-O makes machine tools, package machinery — machines that turn out paper milk containers — and precision products.

Bendix is widely diversified, with major interests in automotive, zero-space, building and Industrial markets. The agreement, subject to approval by directors and shareholders of both corporations, could face a challenge by the Government since Ex-Cell-O's ma-chine tool output would augment Bendix in an area in which the latter company is already important.

One analyst commented that Bendix was about sixth in the machine tool areas in which Ex-Cell-O is important and added that the combined reveoues would probably put Bendix in the top

Some time ago Bendix, an aggressive acquirer, ran into problems with the Federal Trade Commission following the acquisition of the Fram Corporation, a filter maker. Bendix was forced to give up some Fram assets.

The analyst spoke enthusiastically about the Ex-Cell-O plan, though be thought the price was perhaps a bit high—over 10 times the $2.80 a share Ex-Cell-O is expected to earn in the fiscal year ending Nov. 30, 1976. "It would seem the true benefits will arise out of Bendix's increasing share in Ex-Cell-O markets," he added.

The analyst added that in terms of Bendix's overall diversification, the merger would be a plus, fitting in with

The Ford Admioistration also proposed a sweeping plan under which the Federal Government—both the executive and legislative branches-would commit itself in advance to a specific timetable for reforming the regulatory agencies that so dominate the American economy.

But the same Administration made a decision oot to face the political wrath of the broadcasters by recommendiog legislation to make cable televisioo operators more competitive. More recently it also backed away from supporting plans to lessen the monopoposition of American Telephone and Telegraph and increase truck competi-

Finally, President Ford just a few days ago signed the Toxic Substances Control Act, a massive oew regulatory program designed to prevent environ-mental bealth disasters that have occurred during the manufacture and use of such chemicals as kepone, vinyl chloride and PCB's, polychlorinated biphenyls.

Congress, on the other hand, has passed only the section of the LC.C. reform package coocerning railroads, leaving the truck and airline deregula-tion proposals for possible consideration next year.

But the Democratic-controlled Congress has taken other actions that have contributed to the complex debate on deregulation or what some prefer to call reregulation. The House Commerce Subcommittee on Oversight and Investigation, headed by Representative John E. Moss, Democrat of California, did a massive and often sophisticated study of nine Federal regulatory agencies under its jurisdiction. This study could very well lead to substantive improvements in the next session of Con-

But beyond the specific accomplishments and failures of the executive and legislative branches, the deregulation debate has led to the clarification of several key issues that could have a major impact on the future direction of the Government.

For example, when President Ford attacked the Occupational Safety and Health Administration in some of his speeches about deregulation, Democratic critics said the attempt to merge economic and health and safety issues would result in harmful public confusion. During the last year, however, the different reasons for the two kinds of regulation have been well articulat-ed, and the confusion appears to have Partially in response to Mr. Ford's broad initiative, the Congress this year produced several reports arguing that the failure of both parties to appoint qualified, independent regulators had resulted in bad regulation. The discussico of the importance of quality ap-pointments is expected to influence the Administratioo's selection process should Jimmy Carter be elected.

The Democratic criticism of several of the ageocies appears to have resulted in at least some improvement in their performance. Most notably, the Civil Aeronautics Board, whose chairman oow is John E. Robson, has emerged from the lethargy of the Nixon years after the Kennedy subcommittee detailed many of its administrative fail-

One regulatory issue that has been identified, if not clarified concerns the costs and beoefits of Federal regulation. The debate began with the Ford Administration's stated concern that the expeose of regulation was far more than just the appropriations approved each year by the Government, that regulations require the spending of money by those who must follow them.

This concern prompted the Ford Administration to require the preparation of an "inflatiooary impact statement"

Below Previous Record Low

Shortly hefore foreign exchanges closed, however, sterling plunged 21/2 cents to close at $1.5720, one-tenth of cent below the previous record low set on Monday.

The value of the pound in relation to 10 major currencies dropped from its December 1971 level by 48.1 percent at today's close. That meant the British curreocy bas lost oearly half its value against those 10 currencies in lesa than five vears. The dollar, meanwhile, had mixed fortunes oo European exchanges, declining in Frankfurt and Amsterdam but improv-ing in Zurich and Milan as well as in Londoo and closing unchanged in Paris. Gold bullion was steady in Zurich and

The Conference Board, a nooprofit economic research organization, reported yesterday that consumer confidence fell sharply in October.

The board's consumer confidence index, at 79.3 percent of the 1969-70 average, was down 7.5 points from August, Buylog plaos, however, showed a decline of only 2.4 points.

In another economic report, the Labor Department said yesterday that the rate: of productivity of the nation's private work force leveled off in the third quareconomy work force leveled off in the third quarter. It added that workers gained little in buying power in the period.

The Conference Board results appeared to differ from a University of Michigan survey that was cited last Friday by President Ford in his third debate with Jimmy Carter. The University of Michigan consumer confidence index, at 88.8 percent of the 1966 average in October, was at its highest point since 1972, the President pointed out. This index, based 00 a quarterly survey, had risen from oo a quarterly survey, had risen from 82.2 in the previous period.

The Conference Board survey covers 10,000 households across the country and is conducted every two months by National Family Opinioo Inc. of Toledo,

The board said 21.4 percept of the surveyed families described current husiness as "bad," up from 17 percent in August. About 40 percent complained that jobs were "hard to get," compared with 38 percent in the prior survey.

Advertising More Magazine Pulse Taking

By PHILIP H. DOUGHERTY

SOUTHHAMPTON, Bermuda, Oct. 27 Good magazines for which there is a real consumer need sometimes fail hecause their managements are specialists not generalists, a leading magazine executive suggested here today.

Gilbert C. Maurer, executive vicepresident of Hearst Magazines, said during his seminar on the last day of the Magazine Publishers Association meeting, "We must consciously develop managers who can have balanced value judgments. This business tends to produce specialists. There is a shortage of generalists, not generalizers." of generalists, not generalizers."

What he was aduding to was that in the magazine business most too managements have moved to the too either through advertising sales, circulation, research or promotion.

He said the industry had to decide what skills were needed and how these were to be communicated and taught,

"How about M.B.A.'s? Is that what we should be looking for?" he asked, answering with, "Maybe, but I should suggest maybe not."

Mr. Maurer was one of four men on a panel at the management seminar at the Southhampton Princess Hotel and at least one of them, Warren B. Syer, president of A.B.C. Leisure Magazines, thinks otherwise.

Mr. Syer, in fact, is heading a subcommittee whose purpose is to get more holders of master's degrees in business administration into publishing, where, he said, one can hardly find any.

His husiness, he commented, is "creaking and antique" as far as an M.B.A. program is concerned, stressing his feeling that such a program is "needed for the strengthening and growth of the industry."

And, he said, "This is an area where very little has been done, and I realize its importance from my personal ex-perience of digging for managers inside and outside of the company."

What the M.P.A. is proposing is an M.B.A. internship program starting next summer. The interns would be paid $2,000 for a 10-week stint.

Mr. Syer said that while business achool deans were enthusiastic about the proposal, he found that, among stu-dents, publishing had a "gray image," and that "not much is thought or known about us."

Last month he sent a letter to the heads of all M.P.A. memhers telling them about the program. In it he noted the success of a joint summer program of the M.P.A. and the American Society of Magazine Editors in which, of the 261 participating students, 45 had joined member magazines and 55 had gone into other areas of journalism.

He reported that he had received 27 replications of which indicated a will-replies, six of which indicated a willingness to participate while four to six others were verbally committed. He said that only eight would be needed said that only eight would be needed to go ahead with the program.

Another project of the management committee is to come up with a systematic method of judging ideas for new magazines or prospective acquisitions. Joel Novak, vice president and general manager of the C.B.S. consumer publishing division, reported that there was a perceptible trend toward systematizing such endeavors, which in the past had been done in a "hapazard" way.

Time Inc. is in the forefront, he said, while C.B.S. has its own management acquisition and development department, and Newsweek is on the verge of starting one. The M.P.A. is hoping to establish guidelines for the rest of the membership.

At an earlier seminar Frank Stanton. chairman of W.R. Simmons and Associates, the research concern, talked about a new research project that should be of interest to magazine people.

Simmons has already developed the "media imperatives" research, from which the M.P.A. distilled "magazine imperatives," the most talked about advertising sales tool at the meeting.

Mr. Stanton, whose background in-cludes working at both advertisers and agencies, hegan by saying that the one major factor that would keep the magazine industry from growing at the rate it did this year was the creative product of advertising agencies.

Agencies, he said, don't know how to handle magazines. If they can't get TV time, they automatically think of radio because their copywriters, who hope their skills in television, don't know how to handle print.

There're no criteria for good magazine ads," he said.

What he is proposing is CROMA— Controlled Recognition of Magazine Ad-vertising—which in a way will do for the print medium what the Burke recall testing does for TV commercials. Ads will be graded for being the most seen and for their personal relevance. In a test of a system conducted with

In a test of a system conducted with McCall's magazine, for example, ads for Congoleum linoleum, Maxwell House Coffee, Spam and Wesson Oil rated high for being seen with scores of 58 percent to 69 percent.

The project, which will cost advertisers $600 an ad, will be conducted through 1,200 interviews a month, with one set of 600 persons being shown an ad before publication and another 600 after publication.

The first set is peeded to establish the

The first set is needed to establish the percent that claim to have seen an ad when they haven't. This misclaim factor can run-from 2 percent to 12 percent, Mr. Stanton said. This program will not be helpful in letting advertisers scrap an inefective ad before too much is spent in media, but Mr. Stanton said, it will give agencies a greater confidence in their print capacity, allow them to check innovation, the recurring proof that magazine advertising works, and, praise be, spur improved client-agency relationships.

While the seminary took care of the

While the seminars took care of the shorter business matters, the general session that followed was a time for mind expansion. This was handled by Fred W. Friendly, adviser on communications to the Ford Foundation, who cations to the Ford Folimation, who entertainingly covered "The Courtroom Versus the Newsroom;" Joan Ganz Cooney, president of the Children's Television Workshop, who assured the concerned audience that such programs as Sesame Street and the Electric Company were increasing youngsters' reading skills, and finally in this year of less than great debates. John Kenneth less-than-great debates, John Kenneth Galhraith and William F. Buckley Jr., who spoke in behalf of the Presidential candidates of their choice.

Interpublic Net Up Sharply

The Interpublic Group of Companies yesterday reported net income for the third quarter increased to $1.2 million, or 50 cents a share, from $330,000, or 15 cents a share, in 1975. Net income for the nine months reached $6.2 miltion, or $2.62 a share, compared with $4.3 million, or $1.90 a share, for the comparable period a year ago.

The unusually high increase in the third quarter resulted in part, the agency said, from "circumstances in 1975 when some clients shifted advertising expenditures from the third to the fourth quarter."

Warning on Marketing

As the first speaker in the fall Key Issues Lecture Series at New York University's College of Business and Public Administration, Philip Kotler, professor of marketing at Northwestern Univer-sity, warned "cases of overmarketing" excesses are beginning to show."

It was Professor Kotler's view that overmarketing begins when a company or industry pays so much attention to building sales that quality control, production efficiency or cash flow management are neglected.

As an example he cited years of con-

As an example, he cited years of continued growth in cigarette advertising expenditures in order to protect market shares, rather than creating growth, because no company would willingly cut its promotion budget. Then in 1971, the Government banned cigarette advertising from television and radio. After that, he added, "the industry enjoyed windfall profits which they used joyed windfall profits which they used to diversify into other industries.

Times to Test Magazine

The New York Times Company announced yesterday that its magazine group was planning market tests later this year of a new magazine called "Us" to be published every other week. A limited investment of $300,000 has been appropriated to determine its feasibility, the company said.

If the market tests prove successful, the magazine, which is aimed at young adults, would begin publication next year, and would be sold on newsstands and in supermarkets across the country with a cover price of 50 cents.

The 8th consecutive semi-annual Target Group Index is coming November 8. This consistent performance is one big reason why support for TGI continues to grow and why its findings are given so much weight throughout the industry.

By Timothy Joyce, President

As you know, TGI hasn't missed a report since the service was made available in 1972. We are very proud of this record. Clearly, TGI has been of great value to advertisers and agencies who have learned to count not only on the reliability of its findings but also on its regular appearance. We like to think that this reflects the professionalism that goes into the survey from start to finish.

TGI Fall '76 is no exception. The information is up to date. The collection procedure is as refined as four years of continuous fieldwork can make it. The reporting system is organized for the convenience of users, to help them get the information they need as quickly and easily as possible.

Frequent appearance means fewer surprises. Moreover, the frequency with which TGI appears minimizes the likelihood of large inexplicable changes from one report to the next.

The more you know about TGI, the more confident you will be that its findings are as accurate as the state of the art allows. For instance:

•TGI uses the largest samples of any syndicated market/media research: 30,000 adults supply information each year about magazine reading, use of products and services, and exposure to TV and radio.

• TGI uses the established "recent reading" technique for measuring magazine audiences, with a personally placed and picked up questionnaire. The self-administered questionnaire allows reliable measurement of more magazines with less burden on the respondent.

• TGI investigates magazine audiences in depth. The Reader Quality Report for 1976 details exposure, attitude and response measures for each magazine, and tabulates them by in-home and out-of-home readers, and primary and secondary readers.

Want more information? If there's more you need to know about us, we will be glad to supply the details. Just call us at (212) 986-8050.

If recent experience is any guide, TGI Fall '76 will be referred to constantly in the weeks and months ahead as a key source of accurate media evaluation data. It's clearly in your best interests to be on the inside from the very beginning.

Already, 305 advertisers, agencies, magazines and broadcast media have subscribed and will receive TGI Reports starting November 8.

Are you on that list? Shouldn't you be?

of an incomes policy to restrain prices and wages.

Mr. Carter and his advisers have made clear that they would, in the words of Walter W. Heller, "maintain and unchain" the Council on Wage and Price Stability, which has been deprecated during the Ford Administration.

On fiscal policy, Mr. Carter would be for greater stimulus than Mr. Ford, but it would be a good while before that stance could be translated into more public or private spending.

Mr. Carter would preside, in his first President Ford and the 94th Congress.

Mr. Carter is reluctant to cut taxes, since he hopes to put through aome important social spending programs later; he has promised a balanced budget by the last fiscal year of his fouryear term. Like President John F. Ken-nedy in 1961-62, he would be loath to call for tax cuts as a "sacrifice."

A Rush Is Unlikely

Since Mr. Carter has also said that he would take a year to study tax re-form, it aeems unlikely that he would want to rush into tax cutting (needed to lubricate reform) soon after taking office. To be sure, if the economy were to deteriorate rapidly between the election and next January, it is possible that Mr. Carter, egged on by his econo-mists, would hurry into a tax cut as a quicker way of recharging the economy'a batteries than trying to extract hasty (and budget-busting) expenditure increases from a reluctant Congress.

However, Mr. Ford might he just as compt to ask Congress for tax cuts. He has already staked out his basic fiscal policy as being for mure tax cuts -matched or pertially offset by cuts in spending.

Over a period of time, Mr. Ford's combined fiscal policy of cutting both taxes and expenditures would be less stimulative than Mr. Carter's, but in the short run Mr. Ford could well forego spending cuts and produce as much stimulus.

Republican spokesmen concede that Mr. Carter's greater fiscal and monetary stimulus might get the jobless rate down faster, but they insist that this would also generate more serious inflation. Sooner or later, they say, this would cause interest rates to rise and would hurt the stock and bond markets, curb investment and choke off economic growth.

A Stimulative Policy

Democratic spokesmen reply that a mores timulative policy would be scarcely more inflationary because there are so many unemployed workers and so much spare industrial capacity and because greater capacity utilization would improve productivity. Mr. Carter's economists contend that the United States is not really an infla-tion-prone economy. Inflation here, they argue, has resulted from exceptional circumstances, such as wars of the Arah oil embargo and the world com-modity boom of 1973-74.

But, they insist, the United States economy is recession-prone, especially when conservative timorous Republicans control the White House.

Mr. Carter is likely to plunge hard into one area where he may consider he has a mandate —for manpower and job-creating programs.

Neither candidate appears to be paying much attention to the sector that many economists fear may pose the greatest threat -the world economy.

A widespread slowdown has developed in the major industrial countries. The British pound has been sinking like a rock. A huge balance-of-pay-ments deficit hangs over the oil import-ing countries —a deficit that private mmerical banks are increasingly loath to finance, hearing that many dehtor countries, both developing and developed, are over extended. The danger of massive defaults looms.

The Senator, a Democrat from Indiaoa, urged the Treasury to reject the Mobil argument. Ao aide of Senator Bayh said he had learned that a draft regulation was circulating within the department for signature." Ultimately, it would have to be approved by the Secretary.

There were informal but strong indianations from inside the Treasury and saim unofficial sources close to the department that the decision would go against Moon and other companies that have had an equity interest in foreign oil productions.

Prices Increasing on Chocolate Bars

Per capita candy consumption dropped last year to 16.3 pounds, the lowest level since 1957, according to the Department of Commerce. Chocolate bar manufacturers said yesterday they fear the new price increase will have an adverse impact oo future sales. "We used to have a parity between an ice cream cone, a bottle of Coke and a candy bar-it was all the same price," said Mr. Elston. "Now they all cost more than a candy bar, but the consumer has been able to accept it. We've priced our increases irregularly. with nickel intervals and that seems like a big percentage."

An M&M spokesman said he expect-

"But we are hoping that it will be like gasoline." he said. "People object at first to price locréases but then they get used to lt."

Here's the spot where national classified is published Monday through Friday.

National classified presents a sales opportunity for all classifications from apartments to situations wanted, including auction sales, business opportunities, help wanted, merchandise offerings and real estate.

Classified advertisements and auction sales normally appear in 700,000 copies of The New York Times distributed in New York City, its suburbs and surrounding territory.

Now, for only 70 cents a line added to the already established classification rate (commissionable), your advertising can be included in all 900,000 copies of the weekday New York Times distributed coast to coast.

This means that classified advertisers can reach all 2,342,000 week-day readers of The New York Times in the New York area—plus 598,000 more readers in other cities and towns across the United States. People to whom you could sell a house, rent an apartment or room, invite to apply for a job, attend an auction, invest money or time or buy whatever you sell.

Attention Classified Advertisers Advertising Agencies

Two new and larger type sizes have been added to those available to classified advertisers in The New York Times.

Each line of lyon charged as fourteen lates. Approximately 8 characters and spaces to a late in lower case; 6 TO A LINE IN CAPITALS.

These two type sizes will enable the advertiser to increase the attentiongetting power of the message, add emphasis to important words and phrases and make the announcement more effective.

"Consequently, as a 'reward' for reliev-ing the pension fund portfolio of unwant-ed properties, the fund loaned Malnik the purchase price of the two honeymoon resort hotels," the report said.

The gaming control board issued an earlier warning about Mr. Malnik to Cae-sars World in October 1972, after it learned the details of a transaction involving a parcel of land in North Miami Beach, Fla., called the Sky Lake Country. Club. It repeated the warning before July 5 1973, because it had learned of another Caesars World-Malnik transaction.

Mr. Sheehan was asked by The Times why Caesars World bad ignored the warnings and had made another deal with Mr. Malnik.

He said that "there was obviously a major misunderstanding" about what the earlier warnings had meant and that "since he Pennsylvania transaction had nothing to do with our Nevada opera-tions" Caesars World had thought that the prohibition on dealing with Mr. Malnik did not apply.

Other Loans Being Examined

The loan by the Central States Pension Fond to Mr. Malnik is not the only loan in to Mr. Mainik or the only category of loans being inves-estription of how tigated by the Labor and Justice Depart-o channel millions ments. Other loans made in the year before the fund stopped making loans also exemplify the kinds of transactions being examined by the Government.

In a series of loans, the fund lent money to another reputed associate of organized crime figures, who purchased two Las Vegas casinos from which several million dollars has been stolen through "skim-offs": according to preliminary findings of a Nevada audit.

The fund's trustees lent $150 million in one eight-month period in 1974 to Allen Glick, who was then 32 years old and had little business experience. The money was to finance land developments and casinos; though Mr. Glick had no background in casino management.

In interviews with The Times, four law-enforcement officers have identified Mr. Glick as an associate of organized-crime figures, though nothing has ever been proved about him.

Pension Law Requirement

Another category of loan that has come under Government scrutiny are the loans that appear unwise from a husiness standpoint. The Pension Law now re-quires that loans be "prudent," but in 1974, before the law took effect, there was no such standard.

One such loan involved the Windward to make the $3 million loan, and, after Hotel in St. Thomas, V. I. On Dec. 7. 1971, the owners of the hotel, Hotel Development Corporation, applied for a $3 Shortly after the loan was made the million loan on the property.

TV: Fine Drama About Lesbians

'The War Widow,' by Harvey Perr, Will Be on Public Television's 'Visions' Series Tonight

By JOHN J. O'CONNOR

There probably isn't a group in the nation that, at one time or another, couldn't complain about being por-trayed offensively on television, but the award for most battered must belong to lesbians. On "Policewoman," they have been seen ripping off and murdering the helpless residents of an old-age home. In "Born Innocent," they brutally raped hapless Linda Blair in a sbower room. They puff cigars. They snarl. They are outrageously distorted.

Tonight at 9, on public television's crucially important "Visions" series, something of a television breakthrough is achieved in a play called "The War Widow." The dramatic center encompasses a sympathetic treatment of a lesbian relationship but, more impor-tant, the characters are portrayed as intelligent people, not as ludicrous stereotypes. Interestingly enough, the unusually sensitive script was written by a man. This is a first television play for Harvey Perr, whose background in-cludes works produced Off Broadway and at the Actors Studio West. For a time, he was also a drama critic, of all things, for The Los Angeles Free

The time of "The War Widow" is during World War I. Amy's husband enlisted early. She sits at bome, reading his letters, discussing meaningless things with her mother, looking after her young daughter. Surrounded by ornate Victorian Luxury, she has become a fragile shell. Life has become a panorama that moves, is artificial.

Then, on a trip to New York, sitting in a ladies' tea room, Amy meets Jenny. a photographer interested in art and a career. Amy is confronted with the possibility of alternatives. The two women become close friends, then eventually lovers. Amy's fastidious mother is furious with the impropriety of the situation, the "overwrought display of passion." Amy keeps receiving letters from her husband. Nothing has changed, and everything is changing.

Like the character of Amy, "The War Widow" is somewhat deceptively delicate. The play proceed slowly and aniaths but no time is wretted. There quietly, but no time is wasted. There are flaws. The language, perhaps in an attempt at period flavor, can become overly flowery with phrases auch as "a refuge from my inner turmoil." And the technique of word repetitions, in the style of O'Neill and Albee, needs more polishing.

But the play succeeds, perhaps through its emotional validity more than anything else. And, as directed by Paul Bogart and produced by Barbara Schultz, it has been given a superb production. The sets of Ralph Holmes are beautifully effective arrangements of lace, drapery fabrics and heavy process represents with the without woods, punctuated with the vibrant colors of freshly cut flowers. And Mr. Bogart has caught both the period and the artistic core of the play with a directorial style close to the musical equivalent of a tone poem.

The performances are incredibly good, Pamela Bellwood's Amy is strikingly lovely and affecting. Frances Lee McCain, who was shamelessly wasted McCain, who was snamelessly wasten as the mother on a failed series called "Apple's Way." is a revelation as Jennie, presenting the woman with a direct and appealing openness. And Katharine Bard is perfectly distant and curiously sympathetic as Amy's mother. Others in this outstanding cast include Maxine Stuart, Barbara Cason and Nan Martin.

"The War Widow" hardly redresses
the imbalance accorded lesbians on television, but it is an impressive step in that encouraging direction. It is also, on its own, impressive drama for a series designed to hring new writers and plays to television.

WHY MORE PEOPLE ARE WATCHING ABC FOR NEWS.

If you're not watching Harry Reasoner and Barbara Walters on ABC, you're missing more than just the latest national and . international news.

You're missing the special interviews with President Ford and Governor Carter, Both candidates outlined their goals and policies for the next four years.

You're missing such "Close-Up" features as the search for runaway fathers and the inhumane conditions found in many puppy mills across the country.

You're missing live reports om ABC News correspondents as they answer questions on what each story really means. And features on science, health, and economic news and how it affects

That's just part of what you're missing. And it's the reason why more people are watching Harry Reasoner and Barbara Walters on ABC.

Don't miss them.

television so far this year... It's rich, full, gutsy and honest. Don't miss it!" Kay Gardella, N.Y. Daily News

No doubt about it. The opening production in NBC's Best Seller series is the triumph of the season.

The serialization of Taylor Caldwell's "Captain and the Kings" is being received with tremendous enthusiasm by critics and public alike. It's certainly the most talked-about show in years. (Don't miss tonight's chapter in which Joseph Armagh's brother, Sean, is framed on a charge of blowing up a train).

Over and over again, critics cite the high calibre of the acting, the care being given to the scripts and the attention being paid to the costuming and sets—standards that will be maintained right through the novel's brilliant, two-hour finale on Nov. 25.

And we expect them to remain just as high when the second NBC Best Seller, "Once An Eagle," begins its serialization on Dec. 2. The powerful Anton Myrer novel focuses on the intertwined emotional involvements of two couples, before and during World War II. The cast includes Glenn Ford, Sam Elliott, Cliff Potts, Amy Irving and Darleen Carr.

Other novels are, of course, waiting in the wings. The resounding success of "Captains and the Kings" makes it a tough act to follow. But that's what makes the NBC Best Seller the most exciting challenge of the season. And the most exciting viewing.

From the critics...

"First-class production that could make it the hit of the new season."

Joan Hanauer, United Press International.

"The story is exceedingly well told, full of robust, well-defined characters... rich, thoroughly fascinating drama."

Jay Sharbutt, Associated Press.

"Its characters are strong, individualistic and provocative...Richard Jordan emerges as a new star."

Anthony LaCamera, Boston Herald American.

"The production is top quality, the cast is big-time and good, and the sets are so real you can smell the Pennsylvania coal dust."

Barbara Holsopple, Pittsburgh Press:

"The settings, the scenery, the costuming are all lush, but most of all, there is a strong story well told."

Richard K. Shull, Indianapolis News.

"Doldrums of character are not permitted on 'Captains and the Kings'... energy and ambition are dramatized rather than talked about."

John Leonard, N.Y. Times.

"Best Sellers'...may be the greatest boon to novelists since paperback rights. If the entire season holds fast to the quality of 'Captains and the Kings,' it may also be a boon to televiewers."

AT Channel 13

Steve Casey, San Diego Evening Tribune

"The salubrious result is 'Captains ar the Kings,' whose ratings prove that viewers can indeed recognize class."

Harry F. Waters, Newsweek.

"Most of all, there's a story that move ... all the ingredients to hold a large rapturous audience."

Percy Shain, Boston Evening Globe.

"With its lavish production values, the dramatization duplicates the scope and feel of the Caldwell book."

Jack Anderson, Miami Herald.

"Done on a lavish scale...and people with fine acting talent, even in minor roles."

Frank Judge, Detroit News.

NOW YOU CAN DIAL FORECAST DAILY.

For the first time ever, your daily horoscope by Jeane Dixon is as close as your telephone. Twenty-four hours a day, 7 days a week.

Introducing Horoscopes-by-Phone. Horoscopes-by-Phone is the first astrological forecast written by Jeane Dixon and available to you just by dialing your phone. So if you're wondering exactly how to reach Jeane Dixon, stop wondering and start dialing. Each sign has been given its own number to call in order to hear your daily horoscope (which changes every evening at midnight).

So now getting a private session with Jeane Dixon is as easy as dialing your own number.

The service is obtainable within the calling area of the Five Boroughs, all of Rockland, Westchester, Nassau and Suffolk Counties for a local message unit charge. In a world filled with $50 an hour psychiatrists, Horoscopes-by-Phone may be the biggest bargain in your family budget. Even a cup of coffee costs considerably more today. Plan to take a "horoscope break" every day!

HOROSCOPES-BY-PHONE

Spend a minute every day learning a little bit more about the person you love the most: yourself.
